STATE DENIED CARS TO CARRY COAL TO CITIES OF INTERIOR

Rail Commissioner Appeals to U. S. Rate Body to Modify Orders

CARS SENT BACK TO MINES EMPTY UNDER U. S. ORDER

State Asks for Cars to Move Coal from the Lake Ports

MADISON, Wis.—Cars needed by docking companies to carry coal to interior Wisconsin cities are being refused by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway on the ground that orders from the interstate commerce commission require them to return empty carrying equipment to the mines, the state fuel committee learned Monday.

L. E. Gettle, railroad commissioner, at once telegraphed to the interstate commerce commission advising them that there is no use getting coal to Lake Michigan docks unless cars can be secured for local distribution.

In a message to the superintendent of the railroad officials he said that it is absolutely necessary for Wisconsin to use cars for local shipment.

No reply has been received from either the interstate commerce commission or the railroad. With shipments of coal increasing the demand for cars to carry fuel to interior cities has grown. It is expected by Mr. Gettle that orders will be issued by the federal commission making available the cars needed by Wisconsin.

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF MRS. HARDING REPORTED IN PHYSICIAN'S BULLETIN

WASHINGTON.—An official white house bulletin on the condition of Mrs. Harding issued at 10:08 a. m. Monday said:

"Mrs. Harding's condition at 9:30 a. m.—Temperature 99½; pulse 96; respiration 30.

"Night less restless. Elimination increased, complications subsiding. General appearances indicate improvement. Operative procedure deferred.

"C. E. SAWYER."

On the turn of Mrs. Harding's condition within the next few hours, it was said, probably would depend the decision as to the advisability of an operation which attending physicians were prepared to consider at a further consultation Monday morning.

For the first time in the four days of Mrs. Harding's desperate illness she was attended Sunday night by only one nurse. Dr. Carl W. Sawyer remained on duty throughout the night in the sick-room while Dr. Charles Mayo and all of the other doctors except Dr. John Finney, who returned to Baltimore to spend the night, slept in the white house. They were all prepared to resume Monday the consultations as to the advisability of an operation which were begun Sunday morning after the arrival of Dr. Mayo and continued, with only brief interruptions for luncheon and dinner.

President Harding, wearied by the long vigil which he has kept at the bedside of his wife since the first critical symptoms of her illness, left the sick room to retire at about 11 o'clock, the earliest hour he has sought rest in several nights. He yielded to the urgent advice of the doctors, leaving word, however, that he should be called on the development of the least unfavorable symptoms or if Mrs. Harding asked for him.

SAILSTAD CASE OPENS TODAY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Widow and Eau Claire Firm Sue for the Payment of $80,000 Insurance

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Trial of the Sailstad case will open in United States district court at 2 p. m. Monday. The six separate suits brought by Mrs. Leona Sailstad-Richardson, and the assignees of the defunct Multitone company of Eau Claire, against insurance companies to force payment of $80,000 insurance carried by Edward J. Sailstad, Eau Claire manufacturer, revolve around the alleged death of Sailstad in a cabin fire at Lake Nebagamon, Wis., on the night of August 26, 1920.

Mrs. Sailstad-Richardson, who has since married, is plaintiff in the first action for $10,000 against the New York Life Insurance company.

Prolongation of a liquor case was responsible for the postponement of the actual hour of the trial. The liquor case had advanced to such a stage at noon that counsel for both sides were preparing for the possible opening of the Sailstad case early in the afternoon session. Empaneilment of a jury is expected by attorneys to take at least a day.

Skeletons to be used as exhibits at the trial will be hung from separate racks which were placed in the hall outside the court room this morning. The skeletons were brought here from the pathological laboratory of the University of Wisconsin and will be used by counsel for the plaintiff to show the difference in the bones of a man and woman in an effort to establish the fact that the bones recovered from the ruins of the burned cabin were those of a man presumably Edward J. Sailstad.

Mrs. Sailstad-Richardson with her husband, Ross T. Richardson of Eau Claire and two small children, is here to testify at the trial.

ARTHUR PAYNE IS RELEASED; KOCH CASE POSTPONED

The case against Arthur Payne in county court was dismissed Monday afternoon on motion of the district attorney because of lack of evidence to prosecute. Payne was charged with assault with the intent to rape.

The case of Henry Koch, charged with taken indecent liberties with minor girls, was indefinitely postponed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The river and harbor development bill specifying prospects upon which government funds may be spent, was passed Monday by the senate after amendments providing for federal acquisition of the Cape Cod, Mass., and Dismal Swamp, Virginia-North Carolina canals, has been adopted. The bill now goes to conference.

CONTRACT ENDING COAL STRIKE IS FORMALLY SIGNED

SCRANTON, Pa.—The contract that sent 155,000 mine workers back to their work at their old wages, after being idle more than five months was formally signed Monday by representatives of the miners and operators.

LOST IN BIG CITY

Lost in the labyrinth of a big city.

Such was the experience of a certain young man, a stranger in La Crosse, one night last week.

This aforementioned young man was enroute from Fourth and Main to his temporary home on the south end of the north side on the last car. The hour was late, the air was balmy and lulling, and the young man was pretty tired, and straightway fell asleep. He awoke as he was passing the Onalaska waiting room at the north end of the city, and hurriedly got off the car.

He found himself a stranger in a strange land. He tried to find his way back to familiar surroundings by following the street car tracks, but after he had passed the Onalaska waiting rooms four times on trips around the loop he gave it up as a bad job. He next wandered near the Burlington yards where he was stopped by pickets and set upon his right path, only to lose it again. He again strayed into the Burlington yards, this time encountering a company guard, who pointed out his route to him.

Finally, about 4 a. m., just as old Sol was peeping over the bluffs, he stumbled into his home and to bed.

La Crosse is a big city.

JOSEPH LAPITZ IS ONLY DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE NAMED

Candidate for Sheriff is Only Member of Party to Get on Final Ticket

RACE FOR CORONER CLOSE DWYER WINS BY 24 VOTES

Bentley Receives Five Hundred Votes for Governor

JOSEPH F. LAPITZ, democratic candidate for nomination for sheriff in the primary elections last Tuesday was the only member of his party to be nominated for any office in the county.

The requirement necessary to get on the ticket in the general election for any party is ten per cent of the vote cast for the party's candidate for governor at the last general election. The total vote required this year in La Crosse county was 497. The total number of democratic votes cast for sheriff was 563, Lapitz leading the field of three with 250 votes.

Stanley G. Gordon won the nomination for district attorney in a field of three candidates. His 3846 votes gave him a majority of 870 over Clarence J. Weber. Quincy H. Hale received 2464 votes.

The entire La Follette ticket won the nominations in La Crosse county by good sized majorities.

Mayor A. A. Bentley received a total of 500 votes for nomination to the office of governor on the democratic ticket. Karl Mathie, his opponent on the same ticket, received 108 votes.

STRIKE LEADERS IN SESSION

DISCUSS NEW STRIKE POLICY FOR SHOP MEN

Policy Committee of Striking Shopcraft Unions Gathers in Chicago for Peace Meeting

PROGRAM TO BE LAID BEFORE MEETING CLOSELY GUARDED

No Announcements to be Made Until Sessions are Over Says Jewell

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Leaders of the striking railway shop crafts were in session Monday morning in what was heralded as a peace meeting intended to effect a new policy for the shopmen. B. M. Jewell, head of the federated shop crafts, said there were two courses of action to be considered and that announcement of the decision would come at the close of the meeting of the general policy committee of ninety members, probably Tuesday.

Mr. Jewell first went into session with the officials of the six striking shop crafts, known as the executive council. At the close of that session the general policy committee was scheduled to convene. The action to be considered was closely guarded and Mr. Jewell refused to make known any details of the program to be placed before the union leaders.

Predict Long Session

A long meeting, probably of two days' duration, was indicated by Mr. Jewell's statement that the decision might not come until Tuesday. There was not only the possibility that the policy committee's deliberations would be extended but not all the members had arrived Monday morning.

While the executive council was meeting in the old Masonic temple building, a few blocks away, the federal government, represented by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, and a large force of assistants, was preparing in federal court to ask a permanent injunction against the unions to prevent any interference of any kind with the operation and properties of the railways.

Jewell Ready if Wanted

Mr. Jewell, who had been served last week with the papers in the government's suit charging conspiracy under the anti-trust act to interfere with interstate commerce and the carriage of the mails and against which a temporary restraining order was obtained, said he was in easy reach of counsel in the case, but that he did not plan to appear unless his presence was desired. He was ready to go to the federal building as soon as notified he was wanted, Mr. Jewell said.

About fifty of the members of the policy committee had arrived for the general meeting to follow the council session. Others were expected during the day.

AMERICAN YACHTS LEAD

ABOARD DESTROYER MAHANN, OYSTER BAY, N. Y.—By the Associated Press.—The American yachting flotilla, racing a quartet sent across the Atlantic by Great Britain for the British-American cup, Monday rolled up eleven more points to the invaders' 20, bringing the total at the end of the first two of the six races to forty-two points against thirty.

INEXPENSIVE ROOMS AND JOBS BIG NEED OF THE NORMAL

AN "S. O. S." call for more rooms for students was sent out on Monday afternoon by Dr. F. A. Cotton, president of the Normal school, as the enrollment day of the school neared its close.

"We have a number of rooms offered," said the president, "but a good many of them are too expensive for the average student. They may be worth the rent asked, but students can't afford to pay it. The urgent need is for rooms ranging between $1.50 and $2.00 a week in rent."

Dr. Cotton also urged that all citizens who have work by which students may earn room and board inform the school. There will be a big enrollment, he said, and many of the students will need to do part time work to earn their way.

Impeachment Of Daugherty Is Asked By Solon

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Demand for impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty for "high crimes and misdemeanors" was made in the house Monday by Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, who sought immediate action on a resolution for an investigation. By an overwhelming vote the house, however, referred the question to the judiciary committee, thus, in the opinion of the leaders, disposing of it finally.

ABOLISH RAIL BOARD

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Abolition of the railroad labor board and the setting up in its place of "a disinterested tribunal" for settlement of railroad disputes was proposed in a bill introduced Monday by Representative Hoch of Kansas, republican member of the committee which framed the transportation act creating the board.

EMBARGO ON FREIGHT

NEW YORK—By The Associated Press.—A sweeping embargo on freight was declared Monday by most of the eastern railroads so that all available engines and cars could be thrown into service to bring anthracite coal into New York. The Erie, Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley and New York Central have ordered practically all freight except foodstuffs from connecting lines from the west, held at connection points.

COMMITTEES MEET TO REVIEW LAND AT HAMMOND CHUTE

La Crosse and Onalaska Committees to View Premises Wednesday Afternoon

Committees of La Crosse and Onalaska city officials will meet Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at the Onalaska city hall for the purpose of going in a body to view the premises around Hammond chute, which is proposed to be closed by the city. The committees will also view the dredging project at Isle la Plume.

The La Crosse committee consists of aldermen on grounds and buildings, audit and purchase, public utilities and administration. The Onalaska committee consists of a council committee and a committee from the county board.

It is proposed by the city to close Hammond chute for the purpose of diverting additional water into the Black river in order that sewage may more readily be carried away. The city also proposes to dredge a motorboat channel at Isle La Plume. The committees will view both premises Wednesday afternoon.

John Lynch, 703 Pine Street, and Carl Miller, 941 Mississippi, Clash Sunday Evening

Two automobiles, a Ford driven by John Lynch, 703 Pine street and an Oakland, driven by Carl Miller, 941 Mississippi street, collided near the intersection of Gould and Mill streets about 7:20 Sunday evening, police reported Monday morning. No report that either was injured was made by the police.

According to the statement of Officer Ashland, Miller was driving north and Lynch was driving south on Mill street, it was said. Both cars were damaged considerably.

According to Walter Cole, driver of the car, the bright lights of an approaching automobile blinded him, thereby causing him to drive in the ditch, the car turning turtle, pinning the occupants underneath. The driver of the other car, according to Cole, went on without rendering aid.

ARGUMENT IS OPENED TODAY IN U. S. COURT

Daugherty and Corps of Assistants Represent Government, and Richberg Speaks for Unions

CALLING OF STRIKE AND ITS CONDUCT LEGAL CLAIM UNIONS

Restraining Order Held in Violation of the Clayton Act

CHICAGO, Ill. — Federal Judge J. H. Wilkerson Monday denied the motion of attorneys for the rail strike leaders that the government's bill for a temporary injunction be dismissed.

"I am not prepared to decide at this time that the bill fails to set up any grounds for relief," the court said.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Arguments in the government's motion to make permanent the temporary injunction against the rail strikers opened at 10:35 o'clock Monday morning before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Blackburn Esterline, assistant to the solicitor general, opened for the government with the formal reading of the list of defendants on whom personal service had been obtained.

Donald R. Richberg, attorney for B. M. Jewell, president, and John Scott, secretary-treasurer of the railway employes' department, American Federation of Labor, called attention to the motion he filed Saturday asking dismissal of the injunction so far as it relates to his clients, and said it should take precedence over the government's motion.

None of the principals in the government's case were in court when Judge Wilkerson ascended the bench, apparently having anticipated the calling of the lengthy docket.

Court Room Crowded

The court room was crowded and dozens were standing. Department of justice agents were among the first arrivals and were scattered throughout the room. Outside others unobtrusively patrolled the halls, while six floors below a pair of experts from the radical squad scrutinized everyone entering at each of the four main doors.

Attorney General Daugherty, Oliver Pagan, government indictment expert, District Attorney Clyne, and the attorney general's assistants in the case were reported in conference in the district attorney's office, while the court's docket was being called.

Mr. Esterline objected after Mr. Richberg had stated his plea and moved the court proceed to consider the government's petition.

Judge Wilkerson ruled there was a distinction between a motion to dismiss the bill and a motion to set aside the temporary restraining order and said he would hear the strikers' attorney on the former question.

Strike Conduct Legal

Mr. Richberg declared in his opening statement that the acts involved in the calling and conducting of the strike were entirely lawful. The restraining order, he said, was one the court had no power to issue because he maintained it is unconstitutional and violates the Clayton act. If the bill is stripped of its conspiracy allegations, he continued, all that is left is a bill to enjoin criminal acts by unknown persons who may or may not be members of the strikers' organization.

The bill, Mr. Richberg said, is based on an assertion that the defendants are under legal duty to obey the decisions of the United States railroad labor board.

Can't Enforce Board Rulings

There is nothing in the transportation act creating the labor board providing any method for enforcing its decisions except by public opinion, he said. Even if the board's decisions were legally binding they could not be lawfully enforced to prevent the workers from withdrawing from service.

U. S. Well Represented

CHICAGO, Ill.—Supported by one of the most formidable legal batteries the government has ever thrown into one court action, Attorney General H. M. Daugherty set his forces in motion Monday towards the goal of a permanent injunction in the railroad strike.

Reinforced by a great mass of evidence on an alleged gigantic plot of sabotage and terrorism, the attorney general presented his petition to Fe-

NEW POSTAGE STAMP DESIGNS DEFENDED BY POSTOFFICE OFFICIAL

Glover Denies Reports that New Issue Was Ordered at Request of Stamp Collectors

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster general, replied recently to criticism reported in some quarters to the proposed changes in designs of postage stamps which the postmaster general now has under consideration.

Mr. Glover in a formal statement said the impression seems to prevail that the new issue of stamps was proposed because of a desire of stamp collectors for new designs, when on the contrary changes were under consideration in the designs entirely because the best interests of the service warrant it.

"In response to appeals of the postmaster general for suggestions for the betterment of the postal service, thousands of letters suggesting a new issue of postage stamps have been received from employes of the postal service, who have pointed out the advisability of a more distinct variation in designs for postage stamps, as well as colors that do not possess striking similarity," he said. "The department knows that thousands of dollars in revenue are lost yearly in the postal service, due to striking similarity in stamps, as well as little deviation in color, which prevents postal employes from detecting short paid matter. This liability to error is increased by cancellation which often obliterates the numeral on the stamps to such an extent that errors cannot be detected promptly. In fact, the present issue bears so many features alike that errors now made in handling mail with these stamps attached are in the majority of cases excusible. Particularly is this true in many of the larger postoffices, where artificial light is necessarily being used. Inasmuch as the stamps from one to seven cents denomination bear the portrait of Washington and the eight cent to $5 bear the portrait of Franklin, postal clerks cannot easily distinguish the denomination in the rapid handling of mail because of the lack of distinctive features."

Third Assistant Postmaster General Glover also said that the cost of preparation of the new special delivery stamp was very economical, the master die only costing the government $138.91, which was more than twice covered by sale of these stamps to stamp collectors for which no service was rendered.

DEFENSE AGAINST BEGGARS

A physician was walking up a Baltimore street when he saw a dentist friend looking at some shirts in a show window. Just then a panhandler stepped up to the dentist and began to unravel a hard luck story.

To the physician's astonishment the dentist lifted his hand to his ear and said, raising his voice considerably: "How's that. You'll have to speak louder. I'm hard of hearing."

The panhandler hurried away, grumbling to himself.

The physician walked up and laid his hand on the dentist's shoulder. "Jim," he said, "you seem to have ear trouble."

"No, perfectly normal," was the reply. "But that chap was a professional and 'playing deaf' is the best way I know to get rid of beggars."

BRINGING BOARDERS TO TIME

Many and various are the schemes employed by boarding house keepers to spur collections from delinquent boarders. The latest is to take gossiping, the boarders' own most popular indoor sport, and use it against them.

"Easiest thing in the world," declared an exponent of the new system. "All you have to do is spread the news. You just weave it into the conversation off-hand like that ain't it a shame poor Mr. Brown is having such hard luck and his wife so brave, too.

"'He owes me for three weeks now,' you say. 'Not that I'd press him for it. But he must be kind of hard put to be hanging up a poor widow like me.'

"That's enough. Whoever I tell tells it to some one else. She tells some one else. Soon it's all over the house, and in time it gets back to Brown. That usually brings him around. Few persons can stand it to be talked about."—New York Sun.

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE
IT'S TOASTED
It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF LEGISLATURE MADE NECESSARY AS RESULT OF THE PRIMARY

MADISON, Wis.—So many of the older members of the legislature were defeated in the recent primaries that a complete reorganization of both houses will be necessary. Because of the finance bills which he has offered at previous sessions of the legislature, the belief is current here that Senator H. J. Severson, Waupaca county, may be chosen as head of the joint committee on finance. This position was held at the last session by Senator Ray J. Nye, Superior, who has been defeated.

Former members of the senate, who have been at the capitol the past week, believe that Senator H. A. Huber, Stoughton, will be chosen chairman of the senate judiciary committee. Senator Huber is at present the ranking member of that committee. Because of his wide knowledge of business affairs, there is sentiment here for Ole J. Kenney, Superior, as head of the corporations committee. This is one of the most important positions in the senate organization.

Senator George Staudenmayer, Portage, who has just been renominated will probably be chosen to head the committee on highways of the senate. At the last session he was the ranking member, and it is quite likely that he will be promoted to the head of the committee. This committee will handle one of the largest and most important pieces of legislation to come before legislature this winter. This is the revision of the automobile license system and the working out of some plan for the licensing and further taxation of the interurban trucks, which have multiplied in the past five months due to railroad conditions.

Senator E. T. Ridgway, Elkhorn, will probably be chosen as head of the committee on public welfare. He was a member of this committee at the last session and was one of the most active members of the committee and one of the ost active members on the floor in debate.

There are some who believe that Judge Max Heck, Racine, may be chosen as head of the state affairs committee. This position is now held by Senator H. E. Roethe, Fennimore.

If the elections are carried as the primaries have been the speakership fight will be between Assemblyman John Dahl, Rice Lake, progressive floor leader of the last session, and A. E. Matheson, Janesville, one of the conservative floor leaders. With only half a dozen conservatives nominated, the indications for choice are in favor of Mr. Dahl.

For the head of the house judiciary committee there is a probability that Herman W. Sachtjen, Madison, may be chosen; John Gamper, Taylor county, is talked of as head of the house committee on state affairs and J. C. Hansen, Cambridge may be chosen to head the committee on agriculture. Mr. Gamper and Mr. Hanson have been members of these committees at previous sessions. J. D. Millar, Menomonie, was head of the committee on education several years ago, and with the defeat of Miles I. Hineman, will probably be restored to his old position. Newton Spoor, Berlin, of national fame because of the frog law, will likely succeed as head of the committee on fish and game. Assemblyman James Goodman, Argyle, is spoken of to head the committee on elections because of his familiarity with election laws as shown at the last session. There are dozen other assembly chairmanships for which no names have as yet been suggested.

Changes in the important posts of the legislature will also come as the result of the primaries. It is unlikely that O. G. Munson, Viroqua, who has been chief clerk of the senate for several terms, will be a candidate. Mr. Munson was taken ill some months ago and is now in a sanitarium in the west. Charles E. Mullen, who acted as assistant chief clerk at several sessions, may be chosen to this post. A number of other candidates for this important post will appear. Olaf Goldstrand, who has been assistant sergeant-at-arms of the senate for many years, may be promoted to the sergeantship. He has been one of the most active La Follette-Blaine supporters.

In the assembly it is believed that C. E. Shaffer, Madison, will be chosen as chief clerk. He has held this position for about eight sessions and usually is given the position without opposition. A sergeant-at-arms will be selected for the assembly to take the place of T. G. Gretney, Madison. Mr. Gretney has held the position for two sessions, but was one of the active Dane county organizers of the committee of 44, which will probably eliminate him as a candidate for the job. No names have been mentioned here for the position.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

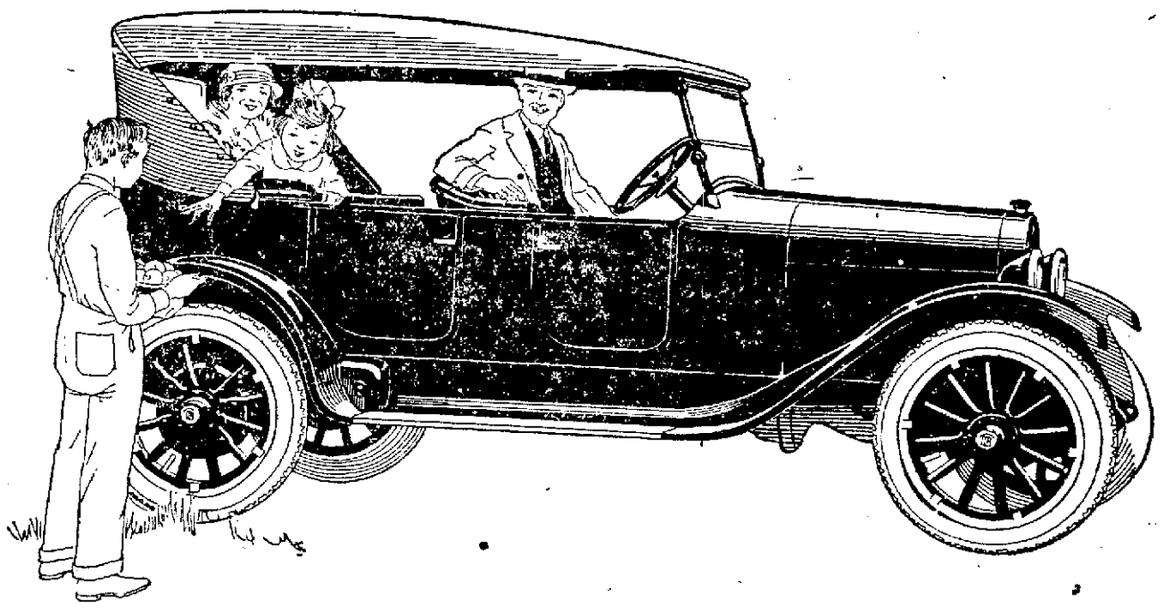

A constant unremitting process of betterment has been Dodge Brothers policy from the first.

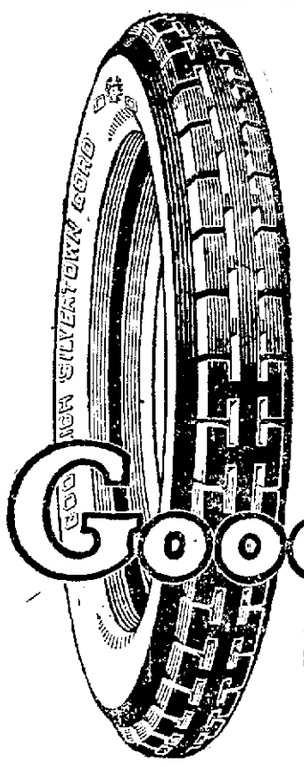

Consistent with that policy, the body lines of the car have recently undergone a new and distinctive revision in design.

The new radiator is singularly smart and graceful. The cowl is higher, and more vividly expressive of the car's roominess and abundant power.

Further improvements in the vital mechanism have notably increased the excess margin of strength which has always characterized the car in every rugged detail of its structure.

DO HIS WILL

If any man do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself. John, 7:17.

Snicker

TWO new plays in New York have been killed by a snicker. The snicker came from the audiences nightly in the so-called "big scenes," where according to the author and the actors all was supposed to be tensely dramatic. But the audiences detected false sentimentalism and theatricality not related to life in the scenes, and when the big punch was put over they didn't gasp—they snickered. The two plays are to close shortly—killed by a snicker.

Dramatic critics regard the advent of the snicker as a new and healthy development in the American theater. Heretofore, they say, the folks who paid their way into theaters have not had sufficient confidence in their own intellectual judgment of a play to express approval or disapproval. They just took it, and bad plays often got by for a long time because the audience withheld its verdict. The critics think the snicker will help to put playwrights, producers and actors on their mettle, and result in better things in the theater.

One might philosophize widely on that line, with application in almost any branch of art or public appeal. In literature, for instance, how many solemn charlatans get by with tosh that every reader's good sense rejects? How much excruciating, all but meaningless "vers libre" might we have been spared had the public vented the snicker that the first experiments certainly aroused inside 90 per cent of us? Had we unanimously tittered when "cubism" and other modern freaks in painting and sculpture were sprung, we should have avoided much waste of good paint and stone. If foolish stump speeches in politics got the laugh their absurdity warrants many an empty balloon now soaring in high places would be collapsed in obscurity.

It would be a splendid thing for the country all around if our public judgment refused to be overawed by reputations or cowed by Olympian assumptions of superiority. Your judgment may not be 100 per cent accurate every time, but you have a right to it and to its expression, and if you let yourself go and say what you think much blundering mediocrity, much insincerity and sham, would die in embryo. Snicker if you want to, friends—you pay for the privilege.

Suggestion

WASTE oil drained from engine bases has always been a nuisance, and not much else, but the crew of a local garage has found a use for it that seems worth passing on to others. They sprinkle it thickly on the dusty alley behind their place of business, and declare that it not only permanently lays the dust but helps to prevent mud-holes in wet weather. Incidentally, it is a convenient method of disposal for something that has always offered a problem, inasmuch as the city objects to the oil going into the sewers and the river is also prohibited as a dumping place. The suggestion may be of value to others, one may think, who have the same problem. Perhaps it might even be useful to the city, which has miles of unpaved streets that are by turns either dusty or muddy. We have no doubt that if the city would collect the waste oil the garages would be glad to give it, and with the thousands of cars in the city the total amount collected would be considerable, one feels sure. It would be no substitute for paving, of course, but it might make a useful temporary dressing to keep down the dust on dirt streets.

In Germany

RECENTLY the German republic celebrated its third anniversary. The event was commemorated throughout Germany. Pictures arrived in this country showing the ceremonies which took place in Berlin. President Ebert and his staff were seen reviewing the German army.

Politically Germany was given a new birth during the war, but evidently its baptism of fire has not cured it of militarism. One would think that the last thing a German administration would think of would be a military program as a means of commemorating Germany's emancipation from the rule of an iron-handed military autocracy. Soldiers Germany must have—as many as the allies will permit—to keep the upper hand over the junkers who would restore the Kaiser. But these soldiers are a necessity, not a virtue. They should not be thought of as in any way typifying the new German democracy.

The Legislature

WHEN the republican platform convention assembles to draft a platform, its members will have for a guide to the will of the Wisconsin people the platform upon which the La Follettte progressive candidates presented themselves in the primary. In so far as it affects purely state matters, that platform may be summarized as follows:

Economy is pledged; co-operation between the producer and the consumer; to prohibit injunctions against farm and labor groups; "every practical facility for education;" state conservation; and soldiers rehabilitation.

A careful examination of the platform divulges nothing in the way of proposed legislation that is in the least startling. In the main it generalizes, or is devoted to reaffirmation of past principles and performances. Indeed, it is not sufficiently concrete in itself to suggest any definite program of legislation.

Therefore, in the main, members of the platform convention will approach their task without any special mandate as to specific provisions. They have in the primary platform, however, a broadly general intimation of the direction which the people expect legislation to take. In one thing only have they an inescapable command.

That is the command of the people, by a very large majority, to pass a law providing for the repeal of the secrecy clause. Upon it Governor Blaine placed the weight of his emphasis during the campaign, and his nomination indicates that he carried his point with the electorate.

It is unfortunate that Governor Blaine's primary platform did not enunciate a definite program of legislation. Indications at present are that he will have absolute command of the legislature. He will be able to carry through any plans which the legislature understands to be the wish of their constituents. But since he had no program with which to go to the people in the primary he can only guess of what specific measures they would approve.

The result places a tremendous responsibility upon the platform convention. That convention knows that the people have spoken for progressive legislation. In the main the exact character of that legislation is left to the convention and to the legislature. If the members have insight, if they have vision and understanding, if they are conscious of society's problems and possess constructive ideas for their solution, they may perform a great service for the state. Their's is a wonderful opportunity as well as a grave responsibility.

In the Little House

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

Every day Grace Henderson passed the little house in the trees and every day she looked at it wistfully and eagerly.

So far it hadn't been occupied, though a sign in the front yard advertised that it was for sale for cash or on terms. And every time Grace saw the house still empty she sighed with relief.

Grace wanted that house for her very own. Of course there wasn't apparently a chance in the world that it ever would be hers. She had no money with which to buy it, she had no kith nor kin who might buy it for her and there was no ardent young man in Grace's life eager and anxious to make her its presiding genius.

But still the desire was there in Grace's heart, and the hope, too.

This desire and this hope filled her days with longing and her nights with dreams.

But dreams they were which were too good to last. Grace thought, for on one doleful morning when she passed the house she saw that the sign was gone and that there were curtains in the windows of the house and smoke rising from the chimney.

Grace put in a bad day after this. Twice she was reproved by her employer. Twice she put on her hat determined to leave the hateful place never to return. And twice she put her hat back on the hook shook herself into a determined effort to try again.

By the end of the day, however, she had determined upon a course of action which she knew was wild, crazy, foolish in the extreme. But what if it was all this and more too? It was at least something different from the eternal drudgery and grind of her present life.

Early that evening found Grace rather timidly knocking at the door of the little house.

Presently a pleasant faced young matron answered her knock. Grace liked her at once and wondered what her husband was like.

"I wonder if you'd have any work for me helping you get settled in this house?" Grace queried. "I just quit my job in an office today. I got so tired of office work I couldn't stand it any more, and this house— well, I've always liked it. Here's a reference from my employer."

"Come in," said the matron.

She led Grace into a large living room which though large was cozy and comfortable and which, when furnished with the materials now scattered here and there about the room, gave promise of being extremely attractive. Grace liked the room and the furnishings at once.

Gravely the matron read the short reference and then looked up and smiled.

"My name is Mrs. Branning," she volunteered. "Before I was married I felt much the way you do. I'd like to have your help. Could you come by the day?"

"Yes," said Grace eagerly.

The matter of pay was settled at once and the hour at which Grace was to arrive in the morning—8 o'clock. And presently Grace found herself back again in her boarding house room feeling more alert, more live and even happy. She was going to be a part of the little house for a while and that was something!

The man of the house was gone before Grace arrived. Nor did he return before she left in the evening. Grace wondered what he was like—young, of course—good looking, probably and successful. What a lucky girl Mrs. Branning was, and she, like Grace, had once worked in an office and felt tired and discouraged.

Grace and Mrs. Branning got on splendidly together. They were both of about the same age and their experiences had been quite similar, with the exception that Mrs. Branning was married, while Grace was not.

"You ought to be married," said Mrs. Branning to Grace suddenly one day.

Grace looked up, startled; then, seeing the candid, kind eyes of the matron fixed upon her's, colored.

Married! That was what she wanted of life—husband and a home, like this.

"Yes," said Grace slowly. "I wish I were."

Once more life seemed to Grace to be interminable and unutterably blue. Suddenly she dropped into a chair and covered her face with her hands. It was only by a strong effort that she kept from bursting into tears.

Mrs. Branning's hand patted her shoulder.

"There, don't worry," said Mrs. Branning. "I'm going to find you a husband—a nice man."

Grace looked up, blushing, excited. "You will?" she cried.

"Yes, soon."

"But though this promise meant so much to Grace, it seemed at once to pass out of Mrs. Branning's mind. The next day when Grace reported for work she found Mrs. Branning gloomy and preoccupied. The next day it was worse. There was trouble in the air. Was Mrs. Branning quarreling with her young husband?

The third day, while Mrs. Branning said nothing to Grace, it was evident that a crisis was at hand.

And so Grace was not surprised when on the fourth day she found the house silent and locked and a note addressed to her in Mrs. Branning's hand attached to the front doorknob.

Grace read the note sadly.

"Dear Grace," the note read. "I'm going away and may not be back for some time. Please take the key from under the front door mat and give the house an airing and clean things up. Sorry we won't need you any more. Inclosed is check up to the end of the week. Yours truly, Bessie Branning."

This, then, was the ending of her little adventure—the end, too, of Mrs. Branning's efforts to find a husband for her.

Depressed and unhappy, Grace opened the house and went through the morning's tasks.

How, she wondered, could a woman quarrel with a husband who had provided her with such a dear home? How could any woman ever quarrel with any man who lifted her life out of nothingness into something worth while?

The morning passed quickly. At noon Grace sat on the davenport in the now perfectly furnished living room and tried to make believe that the house was her own.

A step on the veranda interrupted her. A man entered the room—a young handsome, prosperous looking man.

Grace jumped at once to her feet.

"You're Mrs. Branning's husband, I suppose," she ejaculated. "This is your home?"

"Yes," the man replied. "You're Grace, who's been helping Mrs. Branning?"

"Yes."

"Mrs. Branning says you like this house very much—that you wish it was your own."

"Yes."

"Well," here the man hesitated for a moment, looked at Grace keenly, then with embarrassment went on, "I—I'm looking for a wife!"

"Your wife — Mrs. Branning's gone!" cried Grace. "I've got a note from her."

"My wife—Mrs. Branning?" gasped the man. Then, to Grace's surprise, he laughed. "Why, she's not my wife, she's my sister!"

"Your sister!" gasped Grace.

"Yes, she's been helping me get settled. I'm a bachelor and I've been living in rooms so long I decided to get a home of my own whether I found a wife or not. Now her husband's sick—been sick for a couple of days and she's gone back to him. And I—" he broke off abruptly to smile at Grace. "say, you ought to hear the fine things she says about you."

"Oh," cried Grace as she felt her face become a fiery red. "Oh, I've got to go now."

She made for the door.

"Don't go—there's a lot I want to say to you."

"Oh, I must, I must," she exclaimed.

Through the door she ran. Her heart beat tumultuously. The world seemed joyous and pleasant, her soul sang.

And when the owner of the house caught up with her and stopped her with a hand on her shoulder she turned to him with a smile of dreams come true.

Mrs. Branning had found her a husband!

REPUBLIC OF MEXICO EXPERIENCES REVIVAL OF SILVER MINING

With Silver Selling at Seventy Cents an Ounce Mines are Making Good Profit

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Chihuahua, Mexico.—By The Associated Press.—Silver mines are being operated in Mexico at a good profit, it is said, with silver selling around 70 cents an ounce.

When silver is below 60 cents, mines in this country cannot be worked at a profit, as a rule. When silver is above this figure a small profit, hardly worth while, as the usual thing, can be made, but when it reaches 0 a profit of around 10 cents an ounce is made. With silver selling at 70 cents, or thereabout, consequently there is a big revival in the mining business of this country, and especially in the state of Chihuahua which produces the principal part of Mexico's silver yield.

Old mines are being reworked thoroughly, and prospecting is going on in almost an unprecedented degree.

During the six months just past, there passed through Juarez, Chihuahua, alone, the Mexican consulate there reports, silver in refined form valued at $419,947 and ores containing silver and other metals (mostly gold and lead) valued at $14,098. During the same period in 1921, total silver, silver ore and combined metal ore passing through that port was valued at only $5,499. Juarez is the most important port for the exportation of silver from this state to the United States.

The average price of silver from 1910 to 1914 was 56.445 cents an ounce. Labor and other costs were lighter then, and some Chihuahua mines produced at a profit at that figure. In 1921 the average price was 62.62 cents.

Present price of silver is caused by demands from India and China, it was stated. The world's output in 1921 was 175,000,000 ounces, of which Mexico produced 39 per cent, and the United States 31 per cent. More than 40,000,000 ounces of this went to India and 52,000,000 to China, being purchased by Chinese bankers.

The government of Mexico, realizing the importance of a revival in silver mining, is encouraging the re-opening of mines, some of which have been closed for ten years.

It has been announced at the capitol that soon, in order to stimulate production, the duty on dynamite is to be lifted. This will help mining considerably, as it is used extensively in mining in this republic. The duty now on dynamite is $1.07 a hundred pounds, American money.

TO EXPLORE THE SAHARA

Under Rothschild auspices, a zoological expedition, composed of one Englishman and one Scotchman, is forcing its way deep into the heart of the Sahara desert, a region which is practically unmapped zoologically, the Living Age states.

At its head is Capt. Angus Buchanan a zoological explorer of great skill and experience. The expedition has been sent to find and collect birds, animals and plants wherever it is able to penetrate, to look for any traces of Roman or other classical civilization in the central Sahara, and to secure camera and motion-picture records of the habits, customs and general mode of life of the inhabitants of the country.

The expedition, with its camel caravan, is now heading for the desert north of Nigeria. Communications are necessarily very irregular, for there are only five main roads across the desert, some of which have never yet been traveled by Europeans. Once Captain Buchanan leaves the French post of Agades there may be no news from him for months.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR TRAINED WORKERS ON FARM IS SEEN

Re-organization of Agriculture Will Require Services of Specialists

INTER-FARM ORGANIZATION WILL COME IN THE FUTURE

Next Twenty Years Will See Re-organization is Belief

Many questions are being asked as to the future for trained men in agriculture.

Let us consider first what the next twenty years are going to bring to agriculture.

While I do not pretend to have any special foresight or wisdom in this matter, I have faith that the next twenty years are going to see a considerable reorganization in agriculture, and this reorganization is going to be in the direction of making agriculture realize more of the advantages of large-scale operation.

Market More Efficiently

There are a thousand signs that this inter-farm organization is under way. We think of it most with respect to marketing. In times past, each farmer found his own market and made his own sale. Today in some cases this same farmer, through some representative whom he is employing, is selling his produce in a market perhaps a thousand miles away. He has not stopped with organizing to do better merely what he did before—he is enlarging his function and carrying his marketing many steps further away from the farm.

But do we realize that this process is going on in production as well as in marketing? The cow-testing association is an example of this same development in production.

Machinery Important

We are going to have an American type of agriculture. We are going to perpetuate machine production and god we are going in the direction of larger-scale rather than smaller-scale production. This new agriculture, organized so as to realize the advantages of large-scale operation, has a place in its system for trained men. The trained man fits into such a scheme.

Recently cooperation in marketing has opened a field of work for trained men. To be sure, not many such men are being used by organizations now—but the movement is hardly under way. Cooperation in production and credit will also furnish openings for trained men. Private business in agriculture as it expands and becomes more highly organized can use its quota also.

Specialists Are Needed

What sort of men will this reorganized agriculture need? Will it need more specialists? Yes, more than ever before. It is one of the characteristics of large-scale operation that it uses specialists. The county agent—or what manner of person takes his place—will not be a specialist but a business executive; but he will use specialists. The public service will need specialists and also administrators. Large-scale marketing and credit will use specialists, although of course those at the top will be of the executive type, men with business training and experience.

How about the farmer himself—the man who operates the primary producing unit, who grows the crops? Some of them will be specialists, but not many, relatively speaking. Only where specialized farming develops on a large scale can we have specialists for farmers, and even these cannot be pure specialists. Most of the college men who become farmers will be diversified farmers and will need broad training. And what is more important, all will be business men on a rather large scale involved in the intricate relationships of an economic world, in changing demand and prices, in shifting of areas of production, in cycles of prosperity and expansion and depression and contradiction.

Experience and Training

Three years is going to see business and agriculture definitely reaching out into new enterprises. Even as soon as this, some trained men will be stepping into jobs and apprenticeships in the new order of things. The first opportunities will come in marketing. There will not really be men ready for these opportunities as soon as they come. Those with the training will not have the experience. Those with experience will not have the training. As is usual, experience will be chosen before training.

I look to see co-operative enterprises reach out first, and private enterprise second. The public service, especially where dependent on state and local taxation will come last. In fact, there is likely to be definite retrenchment along these lines in the immediate future. The county-agent system may suffer. Agricultural education will suffer. But this is only temporary.

The conclusion must be that this is an excellent time to be getting an education, to be fitting oneself for the kind of opportunities the future will afford. It is a good time to be getting experience as well as education.

MONROE COUNTY CLUB WORK A FEATURE AT STATE FAIR

Twenty-three Youngsters Win Nearly $300 in Prizes and Premiums; Boys and Girls Prove to be a Credit to the Home County

As a fitting climax to a successful year's work 23 Monroe county boys and girls took 25 calves to the State Fair last week and brought home nearly $300 in premium money. In the first of the keenest competitions, John Hill, a young 14-year-old Jersey enthusiast won alone more than $100 in prizes and enough ribbons to make any old time exhibitor proud. Not content with his individual winnings, John proved himself to be one of the 16 best Calf Club demonstrators sent to the annual Calf Club Roundup at Milwaukee for which he was given special recognition.

This was Monroe county's first county-wide attempt in club work and the 60 enrolled youngsters took hold with such eagerness and interest that club work is destined to become one of the county's important developments in better farming.

All Winners

Practically everyone of the youngsters representing Monroe county were winners of ribbons and premium money and their enthusiastic determination to do even better next year is wonderful, reports County Agent Liddle. Mr. Liddle says that much of the success of Junior Calf Club work is due to the active interest of breeders, business men and parents. Many leading business men have supported the work without any thought except to assist in giving the farm boys and girls to show how much they really can do, while parents and breeders have backed the youngsters to the last stitch.

To help defray the expenses of the State Fair trip, the county Holstein and Guernsey Breeders' Associations together with five of the county's leading banks, raised $105.

Though the boys and girls received cash prizes for their efforts money has by no means been held up as a chief goal. In fact the money phase of the club work has been constantly kept in the back ground and conscientious, honest effort is the one great attainment. The following four special demonstration teams forceably presented their subjects to large audiences in the grand stand auditorium at Milwaukee:

Holstein Calf Club team. Mildred Selbach, Otto Schauf, Albert Ruetten.

Guernsey Calf Club team, Don Huddleston, Matie Hanson, Elmer Oswald, Edward Schantz.

Jersey Calf Club team, Ada Wyatt, John Hill, Glen Wallace.

Angelo Canning Club team. Irma Jewett, Freda Winterfield, Dorothy Wilhelmson, Frances Hansen (alternate.)

Canning Team

The Canning Club team was awarded third place with 15 teams competing. The Jersey demonstration team was recognized as one of the leading teams but the exact place has not been received yet. Although this was the first year for the Guernsey and Holstein demonstration teams they did very creditable work and received a mighty good training for next year. The individual placings were as follows:

Mildred Selbach, 9th, senior Holstein heifer; George Nicholson, 4th, senior Holstein sire; Alphonse Schantz, 4th, junior Guernsey heifer; Edward Schantz, 4th, senior Guernsey sire; Donald Huddleston, 8th, senior Guernsey heifer; Joyce Huddleston, 13th, senior Guernsey heifer; Matie Hanson, 15th, junior Guernsey heifer; Elmer Oswald 10th, senior Guernsey heifer.

AUGUST REPORT OF THE SHELBY COW TESTING SOCIETY

The Shelby Cow Testing Association has now been running for a month and it promises to be the best one in the county. The farmers as a whole are good feeders and with good luck combined with a little co-operation with the tester there is no reason why they cannot make their association the best.

The past month has been a extremely hard one on the cows because of the poor pasture, heat and flies, but in spite of this there are ten cows in the association which produced over forty pounds of fat.

It is very noticeable that the herds which are doing the best and whose cows are producing the most for each dollar expended for feed are those which have received some kind of ration along with their summer pasture.

Due to the fact that this is the first month the association has been actually running the greatest part of the testers time has been spent organizing and getting the work under way, this will not be a very organized report. We can all look forword to such a report next month.

The pastures are now almost worthless and should no longer be depended upon. A good ration to begin feeding now is 200 lbs. corn meal, 300 lbs. bran. 300 lbs. oats 100 lbs. gluten feed and 100 lbs. of oil meal. This ration is much cheaper than the prepared dairy feed most of the farmers are feeding and will give much better results. It costs $27 a ton. Barley can be substituted for corn with good results.

The cow tester is supposed to know something about feeds, but don't leave it all to him. Show him you are interested in better ways of feeding by asking questions, and I am sure you will get along together better.

MEET PROBLEMS OF MARKETING TOBACCO CROP

MADISON, Wis.—Problems facing the northern Wisconsin tobacco pool as it prepares to market the 1922 Wisconsin crop under its co-operative plan, are being met at once by C. A. Heun, the pool manager appointed on Friday of last week.

Financing methods are being worked out with the bankers' association, grades for tobacco are being considered and warehousing plans made. Before tobacco grades are set, hearings will be held in the state to give growers an opportunity to express their ideas on grading.

The entire marketing organization must be in working order before the middle of December in order to handle the Wisconsin crop which is expected to total 50,000,000 pounds.

WASHINGTON COW TESTING REPORT MONTH OF AUGUST

Results of Summer Feeding Shown in Effects on Various Herds

The results of summer feeding are rapidly showing its effects in the various herds in the association. The list of high cows being practically a list of herds getting grain or green feeds with the exception of a few herds that are receiving concentrates but are dropping off due to the fact that they will freshen early. Herds getting no supplements to pasture or only bran show 25 to 30 per cent decreases over previous month, while herds getting a good grain ration show only 3 to 10 per cent decreases with only a slight increase in cost per pound of butter fat, over herds not receiving grain or other supplements.

A good grain ration for summer feeding consists of 350 pounds ground corn, 225 pounds ground oats, 300 pounds bran and 125 pounds gluten feed. The corn can be replaced with an equal amount of barley and the gluten feed with 100 pounds oil meal.

The high herd for the month owned by August Hammes averages 650.4 pounds milk, 34.65 pounds fat. The second high herd owned by Victor Anderson averaging 646 pounds milk, 30.65 pounds fat. Two other good herd averages are L. N. Sather, 734.3 pounds milk, 34.66 pounds fat. The Oscar Gullord, 767.8 pounds milk, 30.36 pounds fat.

The high cows for the month are listed herewith:

ETTRICK GIRL OUTSPELLS 'EM AT STATE FAIR

WHITEHALL, Wis.—Miss Corinne Hogden, 12-year-old Ettrick, Wis., girl, won honors for Trempealeau county when she took first place in the contests in spelling and arithmetic at the Wisconsin state fair last week at Milwaukee. Her average in the examination was 91 2-3. She was awarded a gold medal by the fair association and a silver cup by the American Legion.

All of the counties of the state were represented in the contest.

Miss Hogden is a daughter of Albert Hogden of Ettrick. She is also an excellent penman. Her teacher who assisted in preparing her for the contest, is Mrs. Lucy Crogan Wall.

Miss Helen M. Berg, county superintendent of schools, has devoted special effort for years to bring back the elementary studies of spelling and arithmetic to the standard which they merit, and has insisted upon teachers laying stress upon these two subjects and also upon penmanship. Under her direction the rural teachers of Trempealeau county have succeeded in raising the standard of these branches with the result that a Trempealeau county student won first honors in the state meet.

LA CROSSE FAIR DRAWS EXHIBITS FROM MANY FAIRS

Livestock and Trotting Horses from State Fairs to be Seen Here

The Interstate Fair at La Crosse, which opens its gates on Tuesday, Sept. 19, for a four day-run, is to be one of the largest in the history of the association, if present indications can be relied upon.

Mr. C. S. Van Auken, secretary of the Fair association, has visited all of the fairs in this vicinity and reports that many of the best exhibits of livestock, as well as a great share of the best trotting horses seen at the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee and the Minnesota state fair at Minneapolis, will again be seen at the La Crosse Interstate fair.

Mr. Van Auken will also visit the fair at Chippewa Falls this week to canvass for exhibits. As a general rule, the number of exhibits coming from Chippewa Falls to La Crosse is so great as to require a special train. The Morris and Castle shows, which will provide the midway attractions, will come from Chippewa Falls in a special train.

DAIRY ADVANCE OF BADGERS COVETED BY OTHER STATES

Wisconsin dairymen must look well to their laurels if they would maintain their leadership.

So declares Reid Murray, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders association, who has just returned from a trip to the west.

In company with E. H. Farrington of the dairy department at the University of Wisconsin, Murray was the guest of Governor R. W. Davis of Idaho for one week. During this time they toured the southern half of the state in the interests of the dairy industry.

Murray found that the high cost of transportation is creating a greater interest among western farmers in marketing their crops in the form of butter and cheese.

"The way Wisconsin breeders can meet this competition successfully," the Badger stockman points out, "is by using only high class pure bred sires, by joining cow testing associations so as to keep only the most profitable producers, and by feeding according to the best standards of economical production."

BUMPER CROP OF POTATOES SEEN

MADISON, Wis.—A four of the potato growing sections of Wisconsin is being made by B. B. Jones of the state department of markets who is acquainting himself with conditions of the commercial crop.

The inspection service of the marketing commission which will grade the entire 1922 crop is now being organized in preparation for the shipping season. Over 400 inspectors will be used by the department for this work, with their salaries paid from a nominal fee charged the shipper for each car of potatoes graded.

Wisconsin's bumper potato crop this year will require even more rigid grading than during 1921 and gives rise to shipping problems that the department of markets will attempt to meet. The department expects that its potato market reports will be of special service to farmers during the present season when important price fluctuations are looked for.

NEATLY PUT

A famous Russian dancer in this country, who is himself a good musician, was once a guest at a reception, where, without wincing, he listened to a pianoforte performance, more vigorous than skillful, on the part of the daughter of the house.

"And how do you like the young lady's playing?" some one asked the dancer.

"Ah, madam," replied he, very tactfully, "I think the young lady has a very firm tread."—Exchange.

DAIRY CONGRESS AT GOPHER FAIR GROUNDS TO BE BIGGEST EVER

National Association Plans Exposition at Hamline October 7th to 14th

HAMLINE, Minn.—The National Dairy Exposition, to be held at the state fair grounds here, October 7-14, promises to be the largest and most popular in sixteen years of constructive work, according to Colonel W. E. Skinner, general manager.

Everything that pertains to dairy agriculture and its allied industries will be shown and demonstrated.

"Returning to the northwest for the second time, the National Dairy Association, which is staging the exposition, desires to prove that diversified farming with high-producing dairy stock pays in money. A correlated object is the education of the consumer in the greater use of dairy products."

Pre-war railroad rates have been granted by the Western Passenger Association for all who attend. There will be a rate of one and one-third fares from the northern peninsula of Michigan, all Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, eastern South Dakota, eastern Montana and northern Iowa. From the rest of the United States there will be a rate of one and one-half fare, on the certificate plan.

In the exposition will be found exhibits of the best producing dairy cattle of the five leading dairy breeds — the Holsteins, Jerseys, Guernseys, Ayrshires and Brown Swiss. The pure-bred cattle exhibits usually number one thousand, including the prize winners of the fairs and expositions of the year.

The United States Department of Agriculture, through its dairy division, will exhibit all of its research work with regard to cattle and cost of production, and all of its experiments in the manufacture of milk products.

Students from the state agricultural colleges will compete in two national judging contests, one of dairy cattle and one of dairy products. About twenty states are annually represented. Extensive preparations are being made by leaders in women's work throughout the country for the "Healthland" show, an exhibit typifying the efforts of children by the leading welfare organizations of the United States.

EXPOSITION IS TO ADVERTISE STATE PRODUCTS

MADISON, Wis.—To advertise Wisconsin as the producer of quality products, both agricultural and industrial is to be the prime object of the Wisconsin Products Exposition to be held at Milwaukee, December 14 to 20. County lines are to be broken in the displays in order that products of the state as a whole may be shown to better advantage.

"The general purpose of the exposition is to impress upon the people of this state and of the nation as well the fact that 'made or grown in Wisconsin' stands for quality, regardless of the county in which the article is produced," L. G. Foster, deputy commissioner of market said Monday in a statement.

"It is a marketing project and not a competitive project, with the underlying purpose of consolidating the manifest joint interests of the Wisconsin manufacturer and the Wisconsin farmer. Wisconsin products, from cheese to steam shovels and from soil to soap, are of such high standard that 'made or grown in Wisconsin' should carry as great a guarantee of excellence as 'made in Germany' and 'made in Japan.'"

The Wisconsin State Potato Growers' association and the Wisconsin Grain Growers' association have each reserved six booths for the display of certified potatoes and certified grain grown in the state. Apple, fruit and vegetable growers are expected to follow their lead.

Scientists have shown that double the number of suicides are committed in the daytime.

NEED OF BUILDING TO CARE FOR CROP OF VERNON COUNTY

Over Nine Thousand Acres of Tobacco Signed With State Pool

TOBACCO GROWERS PLEDGE TO AID IN FINANCING PLAN

Move Held of Great Importance to Farmers and Business Men

VIROQUA, Wis.—At a meeting of the business men of Viroqua held recently to aid in securing a pool-ware house. The following resolution was offered and read: "Whereas, there is a need in the city of Viroqua for additional warehouse room to handle and store the tobacco of the Wisconsin State Tobacco Pool and, whereas the business men of Viroqua are in hearty accord with the ideas and efforts of the State Tobacco Pool, to better the condition of the Wisconsin tobacco growers: Be it resolved, That the businessmen of Viroqua pledge their co-operation with the farmers of Vernon county to finance the erection of sufficient warehouse and storage room to properly handle the crop of Vernon County and adjacent territory."

Loren Baptie, H. E. Goldsmith L. C. Boyle, Berlie Moore committee

The motion was made and seconded that the resolution as read, be adopted. Motion carried. A committee of seven was appointed to co-operate with Selmer Negrud in the interest of the ware house movement composed of the Messrs L. M. Thompson, T. C. Knudtson, Douglas Nelson T. O. Merk, Ralph Nuzum and J. A. Moen.

9,000 Acres Signed

About nine thousand acres of tobacco have been signed up by the pool in Vernon county. The business men were of one mind, that Vernon County tobacco should not be shipped to outside points to be assorted. Tobacco Growers, meeting with the committee named, have agreed to assist in raising funds for the erection of a warehouse in Viroqua. Subscription books have been placed in the hands of solicitors and the canvass will be completed as soon as possible. It is a seven per-cent investment, to be retired in five years and is a temporary financing movement for a proposition of great importance to every farmer and business man of the county.

COUNTRY-LIFE DECAY

BY DR. E. A. ROSS

In a general way the flow to the cities is normal and inevitable. Cheap transportation provides the denizens of great cities with food at moderate prices. Hundreds of articles that two generations ago were home made are now factory made and these factories are in cities. Power-driven machinery on the farm releases a part of the rural population for other pursuits. The state of affairs has stimulated the exodus of the young people from the hard work and penny-pinching of the farms to the prospering, easy-going cities.

The country has not been keeping a fair share of its brighter boys and girls. It has been the young people with spirit and initiative who have responded to the call of the distant city. Had they stayed on the farm, this spirit of initiative would have shown itself along rural lines.

In certain older parts of the country which have been losing their young people to the west and to the cities for two generations, there is a visable moral decline. The roads are neglected so there is less social intercourse and a smaller turnout to school, to church, and public events. School buildings and grounds have deteriorated. The church is in a rut or has even disappeared. Frivolity engrosses the young because no one organizes singing schools, literary societies, or debating clubs. The next generation, having missed the benefits of these communal institutions shows itself coarse, sensual, and irresponsible. There is a marked decline in the standards of individual and family morality. This is an explanation of the degeneracy that one finds in certain rural parts of New England and the middle states.

The remedy is to make life on the farm more attractive. There is need of re-directing rural education, reinspiring the rural church, multiplying societies of recreative opportunities and dispelling the false glamor of the distant city. The young people need to be shown that farming can be made to pay if one puts brains and energy to it.

"Old Rip Radges, that's been wallerin' in his sins for forty years, was converted at the revival last night", said Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "That there evangelist is a powerful preacher."

WISCONSIN ASSURED OF COAL ENOUGH TO MEET URGENT NEEDS

Coal Shortage Has Brought No Requests for Rate Raises from Utilities

MADISON, Wis.—The coal shortage with its attendant increase in fuel price has not yet brought requests to the railroad commission for increase in gas and electric rates, the commission announced Monday. Most of the larger utility companies are expected to be able to get coal at prices that will enable them to operate under present rate schedules.

Advice received by the state coal committee indicates that about half the normal supply of anthracite coal needed to supply Wisconsin's needs will be brought into the state before navigation closes. Supplies of soft coal will be sufficient to meet the needs of the state, while it is expected that sufficient hard coal will be available to serve the farmers in homes by careful conservation.

Many thousand tons of bituminous coal was ordered at the head of the lakes during last week for distribution to the east and west states. Wisconsin is in the upper middle of that allotment to save [illegible] schedules.

"What the devil do you mean by charging just the same for one column as you do for two?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said Peck with a genial grin. "The circus will be here the 17th, and the 18th I must meet a draft for paper for $65.50, and your circus is a godsend. Your ad will just meet that draft."

"HOSPITAL" FOR SICK FISHES

At Kremnitz, in Hungaria, there exists a model aquarium, to which a hospital for the fish has been added. Some of the fish are treated in groups, while others, more affected, get their treatment in individual vats.

In this way was treated a salmon suffering from gangrene, and also an unfortunate pike of 18 pounds, on whose fins enormous warts had been found.

A gigantic bream has been freed of a goiter, the origin of which was attributed to the bad quality of water in which he had lived in his youth.

The best operation performed by the fish doctors was unquestionably that upon the air-bladder of a giddy tench.

This is not an aspersion aimed at this tench. The proof is that it had wanted to leap higher than it was able to and thus made extreme efforts damaged its air-bladder and incurred danger of death. It needed only a cut with the lancet to give this little madcap back his health and good humor.—New York Tribune.

Strict Enforcement

"Look here!" bellowed an irate customer in the general store of Four Corners. "You say you won't sell me a shovel unless I get a permit from the authorities and sign my name in that book. What's the big idea?"

"We-ell, we ain't takin' chances," answered Proprietor Hoskins Grimly. "Gov'ment's mighty keerful these days. You fellers buy a shovel, dig up the ground, plant barley, make it into malt, and there you are. No sirree!"—C-E Bulletin.

NOON LUNCHEONS START WEDNESDAY AT THE CHAMBER

Lucius C. Wilson of Chicago to Speak at Initial Gathering this Week

The Chamber of Commerce has completed arrangements for the first of a series of noon luncheons to start Wednesday of this week.

The Chamber is exceedingly fortunate in securing Lucius E. Wilson of Chicago, one of the most able speakers on the American platform. It will be a treat for the membership and judging from the way reservations are being made today, the dining room of the Chamber will be taxed to full capacity on Wednesday. Reservations will have preference. The dining room will easily take care of 250 and preparations are being made for that number.

President Felber of the Chamber of Commerce stated this morning that one of the features of these noon luncheons will be starting and closing—the dining room will be open at twelve, the speaker will start at 12:30 and the meeting will close at 1:15. We want to make these meetings interesting and as short and snappy as possible.

This will give the membership an unusual opportunity to hear a man who is known from coast to coast as the leader in community building.

Legs Kick Up Row Along Broadway, Bring Battle Between Follies

NEW YORK.—Said Gilda Gray to Miss MacNicol, "Those legs of your induce a giggle." "My dear, how do you get that way?" Said Josephine to Gilda Gray.

Casual remarks, something to that effect, have resulted in the battle of the Follies. Gilda Gray of the Ziegfeld vs. Josephine MacNicol of the Greenwich Village. Both members of the Forty-second Street Country club.

The rivalry over the possession of the most beautiful legs in the world began when Miss MacNicol's press agent dropped a careless remark about Josephine's legs. Unfortunately, he had not looked around the room before speaking. Had he done so he would have noticed the reporter nearby jotting down the P. A.'s statement.

To the dismay of the press agents and everyone connected with the show, this remark appeared in several metropolitan dailies. Of course, they admitted Josephine's legs were the most symetrical in the world but "don't you think it rather bad taste to thrash these things out in the papers?"

Now Miss Gilda Gray, premiere dansense of the Ziegfeld Follies, whose ability to shudder to music has aroused the interest of the medical profession, particularly eye-specialists, is proud of her legs. The MacNicol boast piqued the temperamental artiste.

That night, over the glasses of chocolate malted milk which the two dansenses were drinking after a strenuous evening in the course of art, Miss Gray called Miss MacNicol's attention to the newspaper story.

Of course, everything was perfectly ladylike and all that sort of thing but there are two results of the gentle words that passed that evening.

(1) The Battle of the Legs is on. Smiting, hip and thigh—one might say.

(2) Gilda Gray has posted $1,000. If Miss MacNicol accepts a challenge to put the comparative beauty of their legs to a test by a competent jury, she must post an equal amount. The loser is to turn the money over for the dancing tuition of some needy student.

NEWBERRY CASE AN ISSUE IN MICHIGAN PRIMARY TUESDAY

Colleague in Senate, Who Defended Newberry, a Candidate for Re-nomination

DETROIT, Mich.—By the Associated Press.—Michigan voters who four years ago nominated and elected Truman H. Newberry to the United States senate, thereby setting the stage for what developed into a controversy that has had its echo in a score or more of state elections since that time, tomorrow will register their opinions of the Newberry issue.

Although Senator Newberry is not a candidate at tomorrow's biennial statewide primary, the issue arising from his election is as sharply drawn as though he were.

His colleague in the senate, Charles E. Townsend, is a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination and has been obliged to defend himself because he supported Newberry in the senate. Senator Townsend's opponents for the republican nomination are Congressmen Patrick H. Kelley of Lansing; Major J. G. Emory of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion, and Herbert F. Baker of Meadock, Cheboygan, a state senator.

A charge that forty radicals had been brought into Michigan from Wisconsin to further the candidacy of Mr. Baker was made in a statement issued Monday from Townsend headquarters. It was charged that the alleged radicals had been employed to interpret speakers at Townsend meetings and to work among factory and railroad men in industrial centers.

The statement charged the men were sent into Michigan by the league for progressive political action, a national organization.

ARGUMENT IS OPENED TODAY IN U. S. COURT

deral Judge Wilkerson, who granted the temporary restraining order September first.

Richberg for Unions

Arrayed against the government's lawyers, and denying their charges of a widespread conspiracy of vandalism to cripple the nation's transportation machinery, was Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the striking shop crafts, against whose leaders and members the government's action was directed.

While preparations for the injunction proceedings were under way in the federal building, the shop crafts policy committee of 96 was here to meet with Bert M. Jewell, head of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor and leader of the shopmen's strike.

Evidence by the Carload

Two carloads of evidence—tools of destruction, thousands of telegrams letters, photographs, blue-prints, books and transcriptions of statements of some 17,000 individuals—which the attorney general and his aides had, were closely guarded by federal agents. Secret service operatives protected Mr. Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson.

The evidence was gathered, federal agents said, from all parts of the country by government operatives during the past two months and assembled in a building near Judge Wilkerson's court.

Cite Instances of Violence

In connection with charges that there was a widespread conspiracy for violation during the strike, the government mentioned twenty-five murders, the tampering with 60,000 railroad cars, burning of fourteen bridges, and damaging of many locomotives.

Denying the existence of such a conspiracy by the railroad unions and demanding that Judge Wilkerson vacate the injunction, Attorney Richberg built up his defense on the grounds that the government had failed to make a case against the unions, that the injunction is in violation of the Clayton act and that it was obtained through misrepresentation for "ulterior and unlawful" motives.

Unions Deplore Violence

Concerning the sabotage charges, Attorney Richberg said:

"The railway unions have not only agreed that perpetrators of any violence in connection with the strike be harshly punished but they also have sought to cooperate with the authorities to prevent any illegal acts. The union leaders have time and again warned the membership against any lawlessness."

Many government investigators who took part in the collection of evidence were on hand to testify. Subpoenas, it was said, might run into the hundreds, with indications that the hearings would last several days.

He quoted Congressman Esch, one of the authors of the act, as saying in congress that "there is nothing of an anti-strike nature" in the law, and also read similar statements by Senator Cummins, whose name the law also bears. From the message of President Harding to congress on the present rail strike the attorneys read sections in which the president brought out the same absence of mandatory provisions for the enforcement of the board's orders.

COAL EXPENSIVE FOR GAS PLANT DECLARES KLINE

Announces that it is Difficult to Obtain Additional Supply in Eastern Fields

Writing on the coal situation insofar as the La Crosse gas plant is concerned, P. D. Kline, vice president and general manager of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company conveys the following information in a letter from Eau Claire:

"No doubt the readers of your columns who are consumers of our company would be glad to know that the writer returned from Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the interest of obtaining additional gas coal for our operations, and I would state frankly that priority orders and Hoover fair prices are certainly a failure, and that to get coal to La Crosse will cost the company three times the contract price.

"I would be glad to have you mention this in any way you see fit.

WHAT A DIMPLE IS

Our skin is attached, by a number of tiny fibres, to the tissue lying immediately underneath. In most parts of the body these fibres are long enough to allow a fairly free play of the skin, but occasionally, either through the presence of an unusual number of fibres at one point or through these fibres being, for some reason, more than commonly short, the skin is more firmly anchored, as it were, to the tissue.

Where this occurs, a little pit is formed—the skin at that point being drawn closer back to the tissue. This is what we call the "dimple." It may be permanent, or may appear and disappear in tune with the movements of the face.

LA FOLLETTE SPENT NEARLY $4,000 IN PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

Report of Opponent Shows an Expenditure of Upwards of Six Thousand Dollars

MADISON, Wis.—The campaign expenditures of Senator R. M. La Follette, preceding the Wisconsin primary election, totalled $3,600, his financial statement filed with the secretary of state Monday shows. The state corrupt practices act permits a total expenditure for primary and general election of $7,500 for United States senatorial candidates.

Dr. W. A. Ganfield, who opposed Senator La Follette, filed an expense account showing disbursements of $6,063 as committee expenses and personal expenses of $400, making the cost of his campaign $6,463.

Among contributors to the campaign fund of Senator La Follette were C. A. Harper, $200; W. Stanley Smith, prohibition commissioner, $100; T. J. Cunningham, state oil inspector, $225; A. C. Dick, member of the state board of public affairs, $100; J. D. Morrisey, superintendent of public property, $200, and C. B. Ballard, state treasury agent, $150.

The source of Dr. Ganfield's campaign fund was largely from loans made through his campaign manager, Robert Coe.

CANDIDATES' EXPENSE ACCOUNTS FAR UNDER LIMIT SET BY STATE

Final Accounting Made by Aspirants for State Office at Madison Today

ATTORNEY GENERAL MORGAN REPORTS GREATEST OUTLAY

Bentley Reports an Expenditure of Only $435.25

MADISON, Wis.—Large campaign expenditures in the Wisconsin general election primary were not disclosed by expense accounts filed Monday with Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, by candidates. The final statements showed, as did the preliminary, that the campaign costs were far under the limit set by the state corrupt practices act.

Attorney General William J. Morgan filed the largest expense statement showing expenditures by his campaign committee of $5,350, and personal expenses of $88. Governor Blaine said that his expenses totaled $2,391.75, while A. C. McHenry, the third candidate for governor, spent $2,257.27 for his part in the campaign. The law allows an expenditure of $5,000 to gubernatorial candidates for both the primary and general election.

Carl Mahlke, democratic candidate for governor, spent $2,141.07, according to his report while A. A. Bradley, his opponent, expended $455.25. Henry Johnson, republican candidate for state treasurer, showed expenses of $107.60. Those candidates were allowed an expenditure of $5,000.

Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper, democratic senatorial candidate, said that she spent $729.08 in the primary campaign. She is allowed $7,500.

The republican state central committee reported that it had no receipts and had made no disbursements during the primary campaign.

In the congressional contests Alvin B. Peterson in the third district filed an expense statement showing disbursements of $1,291, while his opponent, John M. Nelson, who was nominated, spent $215.

H. H. Peavey, successful candidate for congress in the eleventh district expended $287.65. His opponent, Congressman A. P. Nelson, spent $1,143. Lawrence C. Whitet, candidate for congress in the first district, spent $888.84, while his opponent, H. A. Cooper, who was nominated, spent $285.52. Congressman Florian Lampert spent $582.11, and Congressman W. H. Stafford, $294. W. A. Titus, opponent of Congressman Lampert, showed expenses of $204.80.

J. H. Wesby, in the eighth district, filed an expense account showing disbursements of $1,295, and P. K. Shattuck, candidate for congress in the third district, showed expenses of $939.

Martin Paulsen, candidate for secretary of state, had an expense account of $1,172, and Riley S. Young, candidate for lieutenant governor, of $275.28.

PROMOTION OF A LOVE FOR MUSIC PURPOSE OF EASTMAN GIFT TO CITY OF ROCHESTER

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Eastman theater, George Eastman's $5,000,000 gift to the University of Rochester as an integral part of the Eastman School of Music, will be opened early in September. The playhouse was conceived by Mr Eastman as a means to educate the masses in the love of music. He purposes to draw them to good concerts by the use of motion pictures.

The theater has been described as one of the most unusual structures in the world. It contains every kind of musical instrument, including the largest organ in any playhouse in the world; it is wonderfully well ventilated and lighted, and it is said is filled with paintings worth several hundred thousand dollars. It seats 3,400 people.

The idea was conceived by Mr. Eastman from altruistic motives. There will be sought a solution to the problems confronting the purveyors of low-priced entertainment, so that the character of the entertainment offered the masses may be improved, refined, and undergo an evolution that will establish good music as an every day need.

"It is necessary for people to have an interest in life outside of their occupation," said Mr. Eastman in commenting upon the enterprise. "I believe that working hours are going to be shortened in order that people may live fuller and happier lives. What is going to be done with the leisure thus obtained? I am not at all of the opinion that people have been ground down by industry. Leisure is unfruitful because we do not know how to use it productively. Do not imagine from what I say that I am a reformer far from that. I am interested in music personally, and I am glad thereby to want to share my pleasure with others.

"For many years I have been connected with musical organizations in Rochester. I have come to see that what we need is a body of trained listeners quite as much as a body of trained performers. Without appreciation, without the presence of a large body of people who understand music and who get joy out of it, any attempt to develop the musical resources of any city is doomed to failure. Because in Rochester we realize this, we have undertaken a scheme for building musical capacity on a large scale from childhood.

"I do not imagine that music is going to occupy all of the leisure interests of people. I know that my own interests are varied. I am fond of athletics. All sorts of sports, recreations and diversions must be developed if we are to make full use of our leisure. In this field certainly it is not a case of righting old wrongs, but of creating something out of new. Interests must be built up if we are to get the happiest use of leisure. Incidentally, in the pursuance of this ideal I should like to see Rochester become a great musical center, known throughout the entire world."

Entrance to the theater is by the way of a commodious lobby in rich marble and bronze. The massive auditorium abounds in exquisite marbles, sculptural reliefs and rich hangings. The decorative scheme is Italian renaissance, Venetian in treatment.

When the playhouse opens it will mark the end of motion picture prosecution in the dark, according to the experts associated with its construction. Through the lighting system, the hazard of a gloomy auditorium will be eliminated. The theater will be sufficiently well illuminated so that patrons may read without discomfort and at the same time view the film without any visionary effort.

The theater will serve also as a medium of expression for the hundreds of pupils of the Eastman School of Music.

HALL MAY ENTER RACE FOR CONGRESS AS AN INDEPENDENT

MADISON, Wis.—Reports are current in well-informed political circles here that Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, will enter the congressional battle in the ninth Wisconsin district, as an independent candidate against George Schneider, nominated at the September 5 primary.

Mr. Hall has been approached by political leaders of the district to determine if he would be willing to make the run as an independent republican, against George Schneider who was nominated on the republican ticket. He is understood to have expressed interest in the suggestion, and to be considering now whether to announce himself a candidate.

Judge Henry Graass, who came within 142 votes of defeating Schneider, may be an independent candidate should he be assured of support of the Hall backers, but politicians here say that the candidacy of Mr. Hall is more probable.

Don't Spoil Your Child's Hair By Washing It

When you wash your child's hair be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water, and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

The Joy

Of watching film-coats disappear from teeth

If you don't know these facts as yet, send now for this free test.

All the world over careful people are brushing teeth in a new way. Millions of them in America alone. You see the results in prettier teeth wherever you look today. Now let your own teeth show them.

Combat the film

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It then forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All of these troubles were constantly increasing under old brushing methods.

Then this came

Dental science then began a search for film combatants. Eventually two were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. In that modern tooth paste are embodied those two great film combatants.

Two other effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which research proves essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to constantly neutralize the acids which cause decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids. Thus Pepsodent, twice daily, gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

What it means to a child

Pepsodent brings a new era in teeth cleaning. It means that children need not suffer what you may have suffered from your teeth. It means that boys and girls, as they grow up, need not have dingy teeth.

Do this

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will bring to you and yours a new idea of what clean teeth mean. Cut out coupon now.

ALLIES CONCERNED OVER TURK DEFEAT OF GREEK ARMIES

Victory of Kemalists Creates Situation Full of Grave Possibilities

TALK OF TINO'S ABDICATION REVIVED IN GREEK CAPITAL

See Possibility of Venizelos Being Recalled to Power

LONDON,—By The Associated Press. Sweeping the Greek forces from Asia Minor in a whirlwind campaign lasting only two weeks, the Turkish nationalists under Mustapha Kemal Pasha, have won a great military victory and at the same time at least partly nullified the losses to their nation through the world war.

Thus is created a situation full of the gravest possibilities, one demanding the immediate adoption of a united policy by Great Britain, France and Italy, and such a policy is far from existent, according to the view generally held here.

France and Italy are accused in some quarters of having not only encouraged the Kemalists but of having supplied them with arms and munitions, although it is reported now in the same circles that they are now becoming alarmed at the unexpected extent of the Turkish successes.

Italy's concern is said to have been manifested in freshly expressed desire for a preliminary conference of the allies at Venice to consider the situation but this finds no favor in London at any rate.

Fear Russian-Turk Combine

Soviet Russia's alleged desire to establish a bolshevist-kemalist alliance aimed at control of Constantinople and the straits of Dardanelles brings renewed demand that the neutrality of these be maintained.

Another cause of uneasiness here is the effect the kemalists' victory is having in India, where prayers for their success have been said daily in the mosques and every advance has been hailed with great glee by the Mohammedans. The Daily Telegraph's Calcutta correspondent says there were demonstrations, illuminations and fireworks there Saturday night when news of Smyrna's fall became known.

Venizelos May Return

The position of the Greek movement in the face of defeat also is attracting attention here. Athens dispatches tell of a recrudescence of the talk of King Constantine's second descent from the throne and the return to power of Venizelos.

The popularity of the former premier is flaring again with the dashing of Constantine's military plans, and Greek soldiers reaching Pipaeus from Smyrna marched through the streets of the port shouting insults to the king and demanding Venizelos' return. The Greek newspapers are openly discussing the abdication of Constantine.

Meanwhile, Venizelos is visiting at St. Moritz, Switzerland, with his family but plans to go to Paris within a day or two to confer with political and personal friends. While he refuses to discuss the Greek situation, his friends openly declare he is anticipating the possibility of being recalled to power.

Painter's Secret

Use wood alcohol to remove old paint or varnish when about to redecorate furniture. Apply with soft brush, and after a few minutes rub off with old cloths. If paint is very thick and dry more time must be given to "soak," and a putty knife may be needed to remove the worst of the old paint. This will remove old finish exactly as well as the prepared varnish remover, at much less cost. Be careful not to inhale the alcohol, nor get it in the eyes when using.

NORMA TALMADGE—RIVOLI

Norma Talmadge is following her great triumph in "Smilin' Through" with another magnificent film, "The Eternal Flame," an adaptation of "La Duchesse de Langeais," by Honore de Balzac. In "The Eternal Flame," which opened Sunday at the Rivoli, is to be found a story of tense heart interest that revolves around the scandals and romances of the court of Louis XVIII. Miss Talmadge portrays the leading role of the Duchess who flirts, and is caught in her own web set for the invisible General de Montriveau. He ignores her, and in despair she determines to quit the world and seek spiritual solace in a convent and the events which follow her decision carry drama as poignant as the screen can give.

Conway Tearle portrays the leading male role as De Montriveau, while Adolphe eJan Manjou is to be seen as the Duc de Langeais. Others in the cast are Wedgewood Nowell, Rosemary Theby, Kate Lester, Thomas Ricketts, Irving Cummings and Otis Harlan. Frank Lloyd directed.

RIVIERA TONIGHT AND TUESDAY

Real Spanish fighting bulls were transported from Spain to Hollywood via Mexico for the sensational bullring scenes of "Blood and Sand," Rodolph Valentino's first Paramount star picture which will be shown at the Riviera theatre today and tomorrow with matinees each day.

And Mr. Valentino had to get out in front of these interesting creatures! Sensational to the limit in this great Ibanez story of the life and loves of a young bull-fighter, are those scenes in which Mr. Valentino does sword and cape play before picked animals of Senor Miura, the Duke of Veragua and the Marquise of Saltillo, the three leading bull-breeders in Spain. Lila Lee and Nita Naldi have the principal feminine roles.

CONSTANCE BINNEY—MAJESTIC

A really unusual supporting cast is an outstanding feature released by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation which opens at the Majestic today. The clever star, long accepted as one of the best of the younger emotional artistes, has with her such really capable people as Florence Roberts, famous old-time stage star of "Zaza" and "Sapho;" Cleo Ridgely, former screen star; Jack Mulhall, unusually popular leading man; Bertram Grassby and Edythe Chapman. The picture is thoroughly enjoyable.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY—RIVIERA

Charles Jones and Eileen Percy in "The Fast Mail" at the Riviera theatre Wednesday and Thursday end the picture by kissing out on the limb of a tree, thereby arousing the astonishment of the spectator, even though he knows a picture must wind up in a kiss, preferably in some unusual position. For earlier in the course of this William Fox adaptation of Lincoln J. Carter's old melodrama they have gone through so many perils, especially in the case of Jones, that one would imagine they would choose some other place for osculation instead of going high up in a tree.

Jones, in chasing the plot all over the map, rides a horse which leaps over a railroad gate just in time to avoid being pushed over by the express; jumps lightly from the fast mail to a speeding automobile, and from one Mississippi steamboat to another, and swings out over a telegraph wire with the heroine clinging to his legs to escape a realistic fire, and altogether has as busy a day as a man can have and still remain fairly intact.

STRAND TODAY

"West of Chicago," starring Charles Jones is at the Strand theatre tonight.

The action of "West of Chicago" takes place on the Mexican border. The story is exciting and exceedingly well told, the acting excellent, the direction praise-worthy, and the photoplay a delight to the eye. There are swiftly running horses, quickly moving trains, and no end of excitement for those who love this form of entertainment. Renee Adoree, who supports Mr. Jones, has a difficult role to play and she carries it through with all the charm that this young Fox actress has shown in the past.

CASINO TODAY

William de Mille, producer of the screen version of Rachel Crothers' play "Nice People," did not see the original stage play until after he had purchased the film rights of the story. His choice of the story for his current production which comes to the Casino theatre today, was made largely on Clara Beranger's report. Mrs. Beranger adapted the play for the screen.

"Clara Beranger 'sold' the idea of 'Nice People' to me sight unseen," Mr. de Mille said in discussing his most recent photoplay offering. "I had never seen the stage production and from what little I knew of the story, I did not consider it as promising screen material."

CONFERENCE REPORT ON TARIFF MEASURE NEARING COMPLETION

Report Will be Ready for Presentation in House Tuesday; Final Action this Week

COMPROMISES ARE REACHED ON ALL POINTS OF DIFFERENCE

All Disputes Settled by Conferees in 17 Days of Work

WASHINGTON—The conference report on the administration tariff bill was in the making Monday, republican conferees having reached a final agreement on the 2,036 points in dispute between the senate and house after seventeen days of labor. Unless present plans the report will be presented to the house Tuesday and formally acted upon there on Wednesday. It will then go to the senate where it is due for final action before the end of the week.

Concessions were necessary on practically all of the high spots on the bill. Thus long staple cotton, which the senate had proposed to tax at seven cents went back to free list, while the tax on sugar was fixed at 2.20 cents a pound on full duty and 1.76 cents on Cuban raw. The senate rates were 2.30 and 1.84 respectively and the house rates two and 1.6.

In agreeing to a duty of a 31c a pound on raw wool, scoured content, the senate conferees yielded two cents while the house managers accepted an increase of six cents over the house rate. With this decrease from the senate duty of 33c a pound, slight reductions were made in the compensatory rates on woolen goods.

Although both the house and senate rejected a proposal to continue the present dye embargo licensing system, the conferees agreed to its continuance for one year with authority for the president to keep it in force for an additional year. Duties on dyes will be based on American valuation but with the rates considerably below those approved by the senate and nearly double those proposed by the house. The duties agreed upon were seven cents a pound and fifty percent on intermediates and seven cents a pound and sixty percent on finished dyes.

Trout eggs are artificialy fertilized in hatcheries.

MONTAGUES EASILY TROUNCE TONAWANDAS OF ST. PAUL SUNDAY

AMATEUR LEAGUERS DEFEATED ON LOCAL DIAMOND, SCORE, 8-1

Grandstand is Comfortably Filled in Spite of Suitable Football Weather

LENTZ HURLS NEAT GAME IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE

Moore and Franzini Demons With the Stick

Despite climatic conditions which were more suitable for a football game, the stands at Copeland park were comfortably filled to watch the Montague baseball club turn in another victory in trouncing the Tonawanda amateur leaguers of St. Paul, 8 to 1.

Lentz, instructor at the high school and assistant football coach, made his tryout with the Montagues Sunday. While he was in slight danger in the first two innings, allowing one score in the second, he settled into form in the remaining innings and shaded his opponent at every turn. Torgeson was effective in the two first innings but it only took until the third for the locals to get to him for 5 runs, resulting from four hits.

Moore Stick Demon

Bobby Moore was the demon with the stick yesterday. In his four trips to the plate the third sacker chose to collect a triple and two doubles and was satisfied to whiff in the final attempt. Franzini turned in a perfect batting record, getting a walk on his first trip and then two singles and a double. H. Angell scored a double play unassisted when he took Torgeson's throw and caught Webber, who had doubled off second base in the third inning.

In the face of defeat after the third inning, Torgeson was compelled to loosen up with everything possible in his effort to stop the locals. In the seventh inning he opened up an attack with a spitter and in the last two sessions held the locals without a hit. He was touched for 10 safeties, while Lentz held the visitors to seven blows.

Score in Second

The Tonawandas lone tally in the second came as a result of singles in succession by Bandow and Stopnick, a sacrifice fly by Pfferman, Franzini's peg for Stopnik at second Pandow scoring on the latter end. Stopnik was also safe. Four hits, a sacrifice and an error by Webber gave the locals five scores in the third. Moore's triple, Weigent's single, Franzini's double and an error added three more in the sixth.

The stellar work of Weigent at second stood out prominently in the locals defensive work yesterday, as well as that of H. Angell.

MORE THAN HUNDRED WOMEN PAIRED FOR WESTERN GOLF MEET

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 11.—The Associated Press.—More than 100 women have been paired for the qualifying rounds for the Western Women's Golf association's tournament, which begins Monday at the Glen Echo club. Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago, 1921 champion, and Miss Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, Ohio, were the first pair to tee off at nine o'clock, to be followed five minutes later by the second pair, Mrs. J. BASEBALL BRIEFS

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—With the final battles against their western rivals but two days off, the Yanks and Giants possessed increased margins in the pennant races today as a result of Sunday's victory while their leading opponents were idle.

Joe Bush and Waite Hoyt twirled the Yankees to a double-header triumph over the Athletics, 10 to 2 and 2 to 1, increasing the team's advantage over the Browns to one and one-half games. The Giants mauled Rixey and Cadore of the Brooklyn Dodgers for a 10 to 4 decision, putting the champions four and one-half games in front of the threatening Pittsburgh Pirates.

The New York clubs oppose rival Chicago outfits in a series beginning Wednesday, the Yankees facing the White Sox while the Giants clash with the Cubs.

Ferguson held Washington to four hits and Boston won, 6 to 1, while Cincinnati outslugged the St. Louis Cardinals 13 to 8 in the only other major league games played.

Harris of the Boston Red Sox had a perfect day at bat with two doubles and two singles in four times up.

Bancroft of the Giants scored four runs, as many as New York's opponents, the Dodgers, were able to make.

Rain stopped both games scheduled in Chicago, the Cubs and Pirates and the White Sox and Indians.

Vic Keen, young right handed pitcher, turned out by the Wichita club of the Texas league, by the Chicago Nationals and Earl Adams, obtained from the same club, will report to the Cubs in New York Wednesday.

The Nelson baseball club defeated Houston Sunday afternoon, 7 to 3, Jaeger, hurling for the Nelsons, passed out but five hits, while the locals clouted Gribin for eleven.

Flory was credited with the heavy stick work for the Nelson club yesterday, netting three hits in four times up. Shields, Johnson and Stoneman each counted two, one of the former's going for three bases.

On Tuesday afternoon the Nelson club is scheduled to meet Lansing at Copeland park in a benefit game for the striking shopmen. Lansing will have Erickson in the box, it was announced, while either Big Benn or "Cannonball" Moss of Winona, will be on the slab for the locals. Jaeger, it was said, offered his services gratis to the Nelson club for the game but owing to two dates at the Caledonia fair this week, will be unable to work here.

ENROLLMENT IN NINE WISCONSIN NORMALS ESTIMATED AT 5,009

MADISON, Wis.—The nine Wisconsin normal schools open their school year Tuesday with an enrollment estimated to be in excess of 5,000 by William Kittle, secretary of the board of normal regents. Increase in attendance is expected at all of the institutions.

Four year teacher training courses are being instituted in the Wisconsin normal school this year, the last year that college courses are to be conducted. The four year courses are planned in order that the future teachers may specialize in the subject that they intend to teach upon graduation. This is considered a step toward bringing a higher standard of training within the teaching profession in the state.

RIVOLI THEATRE TROUNCES NODINE ON SUNDAY, 10-8

Dahl's Fords Challenged to Three Games for Senior City Championship

In a hotly contested game at West Avenue park Sunday afternoon, the Rivoli theater senior baseball team defeated the strong Nodine aggregation, 10 to 8. The Rivoli challenges Dahl's Fords to a three-game series for the senior city championship.

The game hung in the balance until the sixth inning when "Mooney" Vondrashek took the slab for the locals and completely baffled the visitors with his offerings. He dished out seven strikeouts and one hit in his short period on the mound.

Miller, for Nodine, worked in good style until the sixth when he was touched for bunched hits resulting in four scores. He was relieved by Bartz, who finished in good form.

In order to decide the senior championship of the city, the Rivolis challenge the Dahl Fords to a three-game series to be played at a time and place agreeable to managements of both teams.

Tractors Increase Farm Yield 25%

A RECENT report from a large number of Kansas farmers shows that they were able to plow an average of 2 inches deeper with tractors than with horses. Those who kept records claimed that this deeper plowing resulted in an increased yield per acre of 25%.

Power—petroleum power—is revolutionizing agriculture. Henry Ford says: "In the tractor, truck, automobile, and stationary gas engine—we have facilities that make farming enjoyable, profitable and worth while. Of all modern machines the tractor is one of the greatest blessings that has been devised for mankind. Fields cultivated by tractor-drawn plows produce more than fields turned by horse-drawn ones. Tractors make deeper plowing and sub-soiling possible. This, in turn, enables the ground to renew itself instead of gradually wearing out."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates the value of the tractor on the farm, and realizing that the use of the tractor is now in its infancy, is preparing to meet the resulting demand for gasoline; for highly specialized lubricants and other petroleum products needful to successful power-farming.

When the power-farmer needs petroleum products his need is urgent and the entire community is interested in seeing that these needs are supplied promptly.

One of the most vital services rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is that of assuring the farmer at all times a constant, dependable supply of high quality petroleum products.

This Company is able to guarantee such a supply because of its modern, constantly expanding manufacturing and distributing facilities, its efficient organization and its knowledge of markets and economic conditions.

These are conditions under which great expansion, coupled with high centralization are indispensable to the performance of a service essential alike to the farmer and the general public.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Extensive buying of equipment shares, due to the execution of week-end orders from out of town points featured the firm opening of Monday's stock market. Nearly a score of shares were pushed up to new high records for the year in the first half hour, some of the leaders being Atlantic Coast Line, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Illinois Central, American Locomotive, American Brake Shoe, Mack Trucks and United Retail Stores, all at gains of large fractions to 3½ points. Mexican Petroleum and Standard Oil of California also were strong but General Asphalt was reactionary, declining more than two points. Other spots were American Tobacco, Public Service of New Jersey, National Lead, American Hide and Leather preferred, Chandler Motors, Consolidated Gas and Postum Cereal which fell back small fractions to 1½ points.

Profit-taking and professional selling pressure, after the early display of strength, caused a confused price movement throughout the morning. The effect of the selling was modified somewhat by the continued inquiry for equipment, steel and some of the motor accessory shares and specialties. The buying power disappeared to a large extent in the foreign oil group, Mexican Petroleum dropping more than two points, with General Asphalt, common and preferred, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, American Snuff, United Drug, Studebaker, American Ice and General American Ice and General American Tank also were reactionary. The declines ranging from one to seven points. Gains of two to nearly five points, however, were recorded by Pullman, Fisher Body, Cosden Oil preferred, National Biscuit, Atlas Powder, Allis-Chalmers preferred, Sears-Roebuck and Reynolds Tobacco. Call money opened and renewed at four per cent.

Spirited bidding for special stocks continued to exert a stimulating influence on the balance of the list. Investment rails were in good demand in the final hour. Union Pacific, New York Central and Northern Pacific each moved up more than a point. Relation of selling pressure also became evident in the oil group. Jersey Central shot up nearly ten points while gains of two to three points were made by New Orleans, Texas and Mexico, Woolworth, May Department Stores and Coca Cola. The close was strong. Sales one million shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Rainy weather tending to check the crop movement led to an upturn in the price of wheat Monday during the early dealings. Besides winter wheat offerings were reported moderate, with shipments of wheat and flour from Minneapolis keeping pretty near ever with receipts so far. It was contended, too, that all bearish factors had been discounted in full. The opening, which varied from ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, with December $1.02½ to $1.02⅝, and May $1.07½, was followed by gains all around, but then something of a reaction.

Subsequently the market declined, export demand being slow and estimates being current that whereas world import needs this year would be about 686,000,000 bushels, exporting countries would have 740,000,000 bushels.

Frost in Iowa and Minnesota gave a slight lift to the value of corn and oats. After opening ⅛c off to a like advance, December 57⅜ to 57¾c, the corn market tended upward for all deliveries.

Later the liberal receipts of corn here, 887 cars, acted as a weight on prices. The close was steady but ¼ to ⅝c net lower, December 57¼ to ⅛c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛ to ¼c higher, December 35⅜ and then continued to harden.

Provisions lacked support.

Sanwick, and Mr. Theodore Paulsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Paulsen of Viroqua. Preceding the service, Miss Esther Williams sang "Oh, Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Avis Brewer, pianist. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played as the bridal party entered the church. The bride was attended by an aunt, Mrs. Julia Flikke, as matron of honor, and the Misses Marie Johnson of Westby and Lillian Stanke of Edgerton as bridesmaids. Chester Paulsen, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Otto Paulsen and Otto Sanwick were ushers. RIP VAN WINKLE VILLAGE IS DISCOVERED BY MOVIE MEN HAS BEEN SLEEPING CENTURY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Bernadote, a Rip Van Winkle town, is awakening from a century of sleep.

Like those souls living "on yonder hill" above Spoon River, who were quickened into life by the imagination of Edgar Lee Masters in his "Anthology," the unperturbed inhabitants of this strange little village on the same Spoon river, have been touched with life by the pen of a newspaper writer.

Without telephones, automobiles, railroads or any modern conveniences, this town had gone on in its undisturbed way for a hundred years, sleeping quietly in a busy world, until a few days ago when it was "discovered" by a motion picture director and the next morning awoke to fame with a column of type in a Bloomington newspaper.

C. L. Varnard, looking about for a "location" to film a country town scene, ran across the village. It has no railroads and half the inhabitants claim never to have seen a train. It has no picture shows, and of course had never seen a motion picture camera. There are no telephones and no electricity in the town. The old village grist mill is still grinding away every day with water from the same spillway that supplied the mill a century ago.

But now strange things are happening in Bernadote. Big automobiles whizz through the village. There is the unusual smell of oil and gasoline. The swirling dust from many pneumatic tires distresses the bewildered inhabitants. Old ladies in calico dresses no longer go their quiet way to the village store and long whiskered old men no longer calmly whittle the hours away under the village trees. Their nerves twitch and the day is no longer calm.

The article describing the rustic wonders of the superannuated village has brought tourists from far and wide.

About the town go unusual looking men with cameras and stage appearances. They are the moving picture people who are going to put Bernadote in the films. Bernadote is sleep walking. Some of the oldest inhabitants think it's a nightmare.

Most of the folks of the town are farmers. A few of the oldest are considered to be retired. The others work in the fields, harvesting crops from the same ground their fathers and grandfathers tilled.

There are two small wooden buildings in the village that serve as stores where the simple wants of the people are supplied. The houses are quaint and old fashioned, of the old colonial and English type. Picket fences separate the yards. Old fashioned flowered gardens bloom in the dooryards.

RATTLER WIGGLES ACROSS FLOOR TO STRAINS OF PIANO

Music may have charms to soothe the savage beast, but Miss Bernice Polzin of La Crescent doesn't care to entertain snakes with a piano solo.

When Miss Polzin began to play the piano at her home, a reptile known as a "pilot" rattlesnake came out from behind the instrument and started toward the door.

Miss Polzin, who was alone in the house, ran to the street and called to some men who happened to be passing by. The men promptly killed the unwelcome visitor.

How long it had been behind the piano and how it got there nobody knows.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN DUE ON SEPTEMBER 21 BUT IS VISIBLE ONLY IN FAR EAST

CHICAGO, Ill.—The fact that you do not live on the east coast of Africa, Australia or on islands in the southern Pacific ocean relieves you of the unpleasantness of a dark day on September 21.

On that date, according to Prof. Edwin B. Frost of the University of Chicago and director of the Yerkes observatory, a total solar eclipse will occur over that region.

The moon, coming between the earth and the sun, will cast a shadow which will sweep over the southern sea from a point off the eastern coast of Africa near the equator, cross a few scattered islands and the continent of Australia and then out to the southern Pacific ocean, he said.

This trail of the shadow will be about 115 miles wide. The duration of totality at different points will vary three to six minutes and Professor Frost declared this to be an unusually long eclipse.

Expeditions from various astronomical institutions will be established at favorable points to study the eclipse. John Evershed, director of the observatory at Kodaikanal, India, will make his observations from the Maldive Islands. Astronomers from the Royal observatory at Greenwich, England, have established a station on Christmas island. A party from Batavia, Dutch Indies, also will be located at Christmas island and will be joined by Dr. Freundlich from the Einstein laboratory at the Potsdam observatory. Prof. W. W. Campbell with a party from the Lick observatory will be stationed at Wallal, Australia. Professor Chant of the University observatory at Toronto will be with this group.

"The total eclipse of the sun always has been one of nature's most thrilling spectacles," said Professor Frost. "It gives a momentary glimpse of the mysterious veil surrounding the sun, called the corona, which is never visible at any other time.

Gigantic rosy eruptions of flowing gas also may be seen along the rim of the eclipsed sun."

On September 10, 1923, he said, a total solar eclipse will touch the coast of the United States at Santa Barbara and near San Diego, Calif. The islands off the Pacific coast, notably Santa Catalina, will be well situated for stations. The track of the shadow will sweep across Mexico. Preparations for observing this eclipse already have been started by several American observatories.

After the one of 1923, the next total eclipse that can be observed under favorable conditions in the United States will be on August 21, 2017.

Elvera Jefson

Of Westby, Wisconsin. With Nat'l Refining Co., La Crosse, Wisconsin.

As one of your graduates, I wish to say a few words in appreciation of your school.

It is a school which gives one a thorough commercial education in a short period of time. The well-planned courses, up-to-date equipment and the willingness of the teachers to co-operate with the students at all times are a few of its characteristics.

I shall be glad to recommend the W. B. U. to anyone who is considering a good business training.

Dean McKnight

Of Preston, Minnesota. With John A. Johnson Hardware, Preston, Minnesota. Recent graduate.

It is a pleasure to express my appreciation of the "WBU" and to recommend the school to any wishing a business training.

The courses offered are of the best and will be of use in any business that you may enter. The teachers are always willing to be of service to you and you are given the privilege of using the various office appliances such as the adding machines, calculators, etc., which are in all modern offices.

Again let me recommend the "W. B. U." to any one desirous of receiving a good business training.

Claire A. Pendergast

Of West Concord, Minn. With Scheppke, Hammes, Raper Auto Co., La Crosse, Wis. Recent Graduate.

It is indeed a pleasure to recommend the "WBU" to my friends or anyone who desires a first class Business Education.

I have found this school to be far above all other schools of its kind. The teachers are always kind and courteous and willing to help at all times. The board and room service is excellent, the student is well taken care of from the time he comes until the day he departs.

Anna Blomquist

Of La Crosse, Wisconsin. With Remington Typewriter Co., La Crosse, Wis. Recent Graduate.

It is a pleasure to me to recommend the "WBU" to anyone wishing an opportunity to step into the businses world. I found the courses exactly as described to be, each course is thorough and the teachers ever ready to help the students at any time. The board and room service is arranged to benefit the students.

At the time I came to La Crosse to enter the "WBU" for my business training I was only fifty miles from Madison, which has several business colleges but after hearing about the "WBU" there was no competition.

The following are the names of my friends who are graduates of the "WBU", and who came from Muscoda, Wisconsin: Kathryn Eagan, commercial teacher Mauston High School, Mauston, Wis.; Ella Kumbera, formerly commercial teacher of the Fountain City High School, now at Whitewater Normal; Agnes Mousseau, Richland Center, Wis. with the J. W. Martin, Sec'y of the Red Polled Cattle Club of America; George Suda, with the Muscoda Progressive Printing Company, Muscoda, Wis.; Lowell Potter, with a Chicago firm, The Nat'l Home & School Association. To the "WBU" I feel that I owe more than can be expressed in words and I fully appreciate all that was done for me while in school.

H. Helland

Of Lanesboro, Minnesota. With Fred Kroner Wholesale Hardware, La Crosse, Wis. Recent graduate.

I have found the Wisconsin Business University to be exactly as represented to me when I first entered.

The teachers are experts in this line of work and have given me the training that has prepared me for accepting a position.

I am acquainted with Miss Kkrukrud, who once, was a student of the "WBU". Miss Skrukrud is now employed at the First National Bank of Lanesboro, Minnesota, and says that she likes her work very much.

I have now finished my training and feel that I am now prepared to meet competition in the business world.

I know that the Wisconsin Business University measures up to the highest standards of business morals and any young man or woman who decides to enter this school will never regret the step taken towards success.

Charles J. Wolf

Of Eau Galle, Wisconsin. With Durand Auto Company, Durand, Wis. Recent Graduate.

I am at the present time employed by the Durand Auto Company, Durand, Wisconsin; and must say that I am well pleased with the education which I received while attending the "WBU".

It is, therefore, with a feeling of gratitude that I recommend this school to anyone desiring a practical business education. I cannot understand why anyone should go elsewhere, when there is a Wisconsin Business University at La Crosse.

The Combined Course is by far the best course to take; as there is always a need for both shorthand and bookkeeping in any office; and the value of office practice must not be overlooked.

The methods of teaching employed at the "WBU" are the best. You need not waste time waiting for others, neither need you worry, if with your best efforts you cannot keep pace. The instructors are willing to aid anyone that asks for their assistance.

If you dseire a business education, attend the "WBU".

Eddie Boldon

Of Ontario, Wisconsin. With C. B. & Q. Railway, La Crosse, Wisconsin. Recent Graduate.

I am deeply in debt to you for the interest you have taken in securing me a position and which I would not have been able to hold down had I not taken the Combined Commercial Course.

This is a wonderful opportunity for me to show my appreciation for what the W. B. U. has done for me by stating a few facts, which if it were possible should it be read by prospective students, would turn them toward the W. B. U. Upon the arrival of a new student the Board and Room Department see that he is provided Room Departments sees that he is provided with certain facilities at a reasonable price also given all the individual care that he may need, either during school hours or outside of school, which may be necessary in completing his work. There are plenty of entertainments to keep the school spirit alive during the winter months.

Again permit me to thank you and the school faculty for the kindness I have received both at school and in securing me my position.

CAUTION: Certain schools are using the name "Toland" and "Wisconsin Business University" on their letter heads in a way to mislead the public. There is but one "WBU" or Toland school, the Accredited School of La Crosse and this is it. Always be sure to address this school as the "WBU" or "Wisconsin Business University," La Crosse, Wisconsin. Do not use the words "La Crosse" or "College" in connection with the school name. Therefore do not use the name "La Crosse Business College," or "La Crosse Business University."

As I have now completed the Combined Bookkeeping and Stenographic Course I wish to say a few words of appreciation for what the school has done for me.

I have found the "WBU" to be reliable and trustworthy in every way. Its courses are thorough and cover every need of the average office. The teachers are among the best I have ever had, and use the most progressive methods of instruction. They are always ready to give special attention, always courteous, yet preserve strict discipline.

The board and room service is a great help to the beginning student. A large percentage of the graduates are sent direct from the school to well-paying positions.

For the last two months I have been in the employ of the La Crosse Branch of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Co. of La Crosse, Wisconsin, doing their stenographic and other clerical work, which position I secured while still a student at the "WBU". My prospects for the future are much brighter than at any time in the past and I shall always consider the money I spent in obtaining my commercial education a sound investment.

It is my sincere wish that the "WBU" may grow and prosper each succeeding year.

Of Preston, Minnesota. With Great Bend High School Com'l Dept., Great Bend, Kansas. Recent Graduate.

I have completed the High Speed course offered at the Wisconsin Business University and take this means to express my approval, not only of the course but of the manner in which the teachers present the subjects. They not only help the student in the class-rooms but give him personal instruction if he needs it.

Upon entering the "WBU" I had finished a high school course and had some college experience but I feel that I am now better fitted for any position in this line of work. The course of instruction is very thorough and fits one for a better position in the business world.

I have just accepted a position as principal of the commercial department in the high school at Great Bend, Kansas, at a salary of $175.00 per month and feel that I owe it largely to the Wisconsin Business University. I would recommend the "WBU" to the parents as a very good school for a young man or woman both socially and educationally, and to the student as a school where they will get out just what they put into it.

Lillis Robinson

Of New Lisbon, Wisconsin. With J. J. Hogan Wholesale Grocery Co., La Crosse, Wis. Recent Graduate.

The Wisconsin Business University was little more than a name to me when I decided to take a business training. But as soon as I began to mention it my friends and business men, in my home town, spoke highly of the school.

I will say that I found the faculty and president and everyone connected with the school willing to give full measure. One cannot help but appreciate such a spirit of kindliness and co-operation.

I was, indeed, well pleased with the service given me by the board and room department, as I found the home, which the W. B. U. recommended to me, to be everything one could expect.

At the time I entered the W. B. U. I had a high school education and one year of Normal work, which, of course, was very helpful to me.

While there I formed many delightful friendships. It was my one regret when leaving the W. B. U. to break those ties.

I was more than glad the day Mr. Toland announced that the W. B. U. had been put on the list of Accredited Schools, an honor, I believe, it rightly deserves.

Kindly accept a letter of appreciation and commendation from one of your former students who is in a position to fully estimate justly the value of the instruction received in the Combined Stenographic and Bookkeeping Course.

The Course is intensive, practical and indispensable to one who intends following commercial work. It embodies fundamental principles so necessary for the execution of the various office duties.

I consider the time I put in at the "WBU" was well spent as I have already received many monetary returns.
